COOLIDGE MESSAGE WITH CONGRESS

500 At Opening of Growers' Conclave

NEW LAWS FORECAST AT MEET

VISITORS ARE GIVEN ROUSING GREETING

Delegates Delighted With Beauty of Decorations In Auditorium

BY TOM LEWIS

Accorded a rousing welcome by S. C. Hartranft, Orange county's official "glad-hander," more than 500 delegates to the fifty-sixth annual fruit growers' convention, which opened here this forenoon, were engaged late today in shaping plans for a program that will, in the opinion of scores of ranchers and packing house executives, ultimately result in some highly beneficial legislation in state and nation.

At the opening session, called to order in the auditorium of Polytechnic high school at 10 a. m., H. G. Hecke, director of the state department of agriculture, delivered a comprehensive report covering the activities of his department for the year, and pointed out in detail some of the recommendations he will make for the benefit of the assembled growers and fruit executives.

On the speakers' platform with Director Hecke were D. Eyman Huff, manager of the Hewes Realty corporation; S. C. Hartranft, of Fullerton, and others. Preceding an address of welcome by Hartranft, in which he called attention to Orange county's magnificent agricultural resources, the Boys' Glee club entertained the visitors with some high class musical numbers.

Hundreds Present

In addition to several hundred ranchers, fruit executives, railway and steamship officials and a number of farm advisors, more than fifty horticultural commissioners, representing virtually every county in the state, attended the opening session of the convention.

Attired in gala array of glorious color, the convention auditorium was comfortably filled with delegates as early as 9:30 a. m. According to Director Hecke, late arrivals this afternoon, will swell the attendance to approximately 1,000.

When the doors of the auditorium were opened, the delegates entered the hall with audible expressions of pleasure because of the splendid arrangements of the decorations.

Unmistakably the work of an artist, the attractive combination of colors of the three great organizations represented in the convention, accomplished through the use of the American flag, blue and gold bunting, officially designating the state department of agriculture, won unstinted praise from steadily-arriving delegates.

Use U. S. Flags

Six United States flags were draped across the entrance to the auditorium. In the center of the rostrum were drapes of blue and gold bunting, with a center arrangement of blue and white.

Hartranft, in welcoming the delegates to the convention, said

CHARGES HYPOCRISY TO SOLONS

Messages Warn Flyer Against Attempt to Smash Altitude Mark

Lieutenant John A. MacReady in earthly attire, and in the grotesque garb he will wear on his altitude flight.

Birdman Laughs at Efforts to Prevent New Trip Into Clouds

DAYTON, O., Dec. 6.—"God does not wish you to make this flight."

"He surely will punish you if you attempt it.

"'You will fly so high you will keep on going, never to walk upon this earth again."

Pleasant thoughts, indeed, for Lieutenant John A. Macready, intrepid flyer from McCook field here, to ponder over way up in the clouds, as he, all alone, soars higher and higher into uncharted realms, fully aware that a single unwise move spells certain death.

Gobs of unsolicited advice like this are coming to the ace of American army flyers, as he prepares for the big job ahead—the breaking of all existing altitude records.

Laughs Off Fanatics.

But Macready laughs at them. And at the warnings from "scientific sources," too. Nothing can deter him from his purpose.

"Just the work of fanatics," he says.

Yet he admits there is plenty of danger ahead and above.

"You have to guard against cold, lack of oxygen and lack of pressure," he tells us. "The last is the worst of all. It becomes noticeable after passing the 30,000-foot mark.

"It slows up all the body's movements. On my last trip (referring to his 34,000-foot flight) I wanted to look at the tachometer. Believe me, it took me some time to make up my mind to do it.

"It probably was 40 seconds before I discoverd I was gazing at the air speed indicator. It takes quite a while for a bit of intelligence to seep through your brain, under conditions like that.

"Past 30,000 feet the air pressure is 14.7 pounds a square inch. By the time you get up to 40,000, the scientists figure it simmers down to 2.9 pounds. Maybe, I can find out definitely whether they're right on that point.

"At high levels you think clearly but slowly. When I reached the absolute ceiling I floated around for four or five minutes trying to decide how I was going to get down again.

"Getting down below the 30,000-foot level, the normal use of the senses returns. But a feeling of utter fatigue and exhaustion creeps over one. It takes a day to get back to normalcy again."

Macready's trip already is rousing more interest than the world series, a Jack Dempsey bout or a race between two thoroughbreds.

"Can he make it?"

That's the question on every tongue.

But Macready is certain he can.

Clothing Big Item In Daring Flight

DAYTON, Dec. 6.— Heavy clothing and plenty of it will be worn by Lieutenant Macready in his flight into the clouds. A list of the clothing is given below:

Three suits of heavy woolen underwear.

His regular street clothes.

Another suit of heavy underwear over these.

Then a heavy leather flying suit, feather lined, sewed over with silk, looking considerably like a mattress.

A pair of heavy army shoes and a pair of fur-lined moccasins.

Heavy fur mitts over silk gloves.

His head will be covered by a fur-lined flying hood, with only two openings for his goggles.

His goggles will be smeared with a frost-resisting gelatin.

HURL FRAUD CHARGES IN SUIT HERE

Involve Prominent Men In Action Resulting From Oil Land Exchange

Charges of fraud were hurled at Ray C. Lambert, prominent Irvine rancher, also his father-in-law, George C. Wells, and his brother-in-law, Glenn W. Wells, in a suit on file today in the superior court here, in which Albert Fuller, pioneer Santa Ana walnut grower, complains of alleged misrepresentation in a real estate exchange.

Although papers in the case make no reference to valuation, it was declared by counsel for Fuller that the local man received in exchange for his $65,000 ranch here, oil property at Huntington Beach which he later found had a valuation which Fuller estimated to be no more than $5,000 or $6,000.

Wants Contract Nulled

Fuller, in his complaint, seeks to have the contract of exchange set aside and the various properties restored to their original owners; also all funds received by either side from the properties since the exchange to be returned. Attorneys James L. Allen and James L. Davis of this city represent Fuller in the action.

That Lambert and his relatives made "false and fraudulent" representations "knowingly" regarding the Huntington Beach property which they were said to

Bergdoll Case Man Faces German Court

MOSBACH, Germany, Dec. 6.—"I only wanted to get that coward and traitor, Grover Bergdoll, back to America. I acted only from motives of patriotism," Lieutenant Corliss Hooven Griffis of Ohio, declared today when his trial for assault and battery in connection with the attempted kidnaping of the notorious Philadelphia draft dodger opened.

Griffis assumed entire responsibility for the affair. Others who were with the Ohioan when the kidnaping attempt failed are also to be tried.

KELS LOSES IN PLEA FOR SANITY TEST

Prison Warden, After Conference With Governor, Refuses to Allow Examination.

SACRAMENTO, Calif., Dec. 6.—Warden J. J. Smith today set at naught whatever chance there was that Alex Kels, "haystack murderer," might be declared insane and saved from hanging. After a conference with Governor Richardson, Smith said he will not permit a sanity examination.

"Kels is perfectly sane," said Smith. "He was so declared by alienists who examined him during the trial. Since he arrived at Folsom he has been observed by the prison physician and by myself. We have no doubt of his sanity."

WET SENATOR AIRS VIEWS ON BOOZE

Liquor Law Opponent Outlines Plans For Campaign In Congress

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—Start enforcing the prohibition law in the Senate and House of Representatives—that is the program of Senator Edward I. Edwards, a leader of the strengthened wet bloc in the new Senate.

The first steps of the wets should be to "clean up the hypocrisy of those who do not vote as they drink," Edwards believes. He is prepared to do it.

The legislative fight of wets shapes up like this:

1. Fight appropriation of $20,000,000 for construction of a rum navy and against big appropriations for running unsuccessful prohibition bureaus.

2. Let the Volstead act alone unless some unforeseen developments make the time propituous to stir up a fight for light wines and beers.

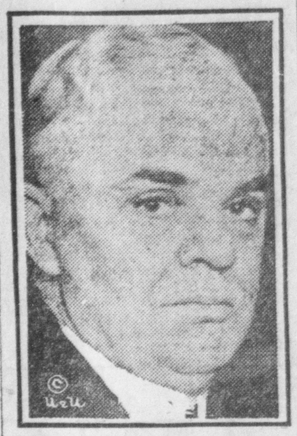

3. Permit the twelve mile territorial waters treaty with Great Britain to go through the Senate without serious objection.

The wets will stage their biggest demonstration when the recommendation for construction of the rum navy comes up. They are confident that such an appropriation cannot get through the senate.

There is no objection to the twelve mile treaty with Great Britain. Senator Edwards believes it was obtained at a high price. He contends that the rum ships can operate off New York from a 12-mile limit better than they could from three miles because that gives them greater radius. He believes Britain is paying her war debt from money obtained by the liquor interests there in promoting big shipments of rum to America.

Senator King, Utah, democrat, has drawn a bill which he may introduce if the twelve mile treaty, as submitted, does not permit foreign ships to carry liquor into American ports.

U. S. SHIPS IN FIGHT ON SUN YAT SEN

Warships Balk Chinese General In Move to Seize Foreign Controlled Customs.

PEKIN, Dec. 6.—American naval vessels, together with those of Japan, Italy, England and France, have concentrated at Canton to prevent Sun Yat Sen, southern general, from carrying out his threat to seize the customs house, it was learned authoritatively here today.

The southern general has announced his intention of taking over the customs which are under foreign control, although the money is paid to the northern government.

British marines joined a French landing party which fortified the customs building, it is reported, and other foreign gunboats stood by, supporting the landing.

PRESIDENT ASKS FOR TAX CUT

Executive Supports Mellon Plan and Boldly Disapproves Bonus

CAMPAIGN ISSUES SEEN IN ADDRESS

Executive Calls For Farm Relief and Change In Railroad Laws

(By United Press Leased Wire)

THE CAPITOL, WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—President Coolidge today gave Congress and the American people his program and his platform.

In his first message to Congress—a message stamped as the first act of his campaign for the Presidency in 1924—the President ended his silence on national problems. He dealt, more or less definitely with the whole range of national and international affairs.

The message was his first big test as President.

The reaction of congress was disappointingly feeble. It was clear before Mr. Coolidge finished that he and his supporters must wait for the broader reaction of the whole country before being able accurately to appraise the effect of the message.

Close Attention

Mr. Coolidge received the most respectful attention from house and senate all through the reading of his seven thousand word address. He received considerable applause, but it was for the most part brief and scattered. Most of his recommendations were received in dead silence by the congress.

His urgent advocacy of tax reduction stirred applause, but it was over in a moment. His demand for prohibition enforcement was received silently.

The fact that most members of congress read the address days ago and were therefore in no doubt concerning the president's recommendations undoubtedly was largely responsible for the feeble response today. There was no element of dramatic surprise in the message. Many members had their comment on it prepared today in advance of its delivery and handed out typewritten copies of their opinions.

Campaign Issues Seen

The Democrats accepted the message as defining issues upon which the 1924 campaign will be based.

"The president's message is regarded as not only expressing his recommendations for legislation, but also as the first speech in his campaign for the presidential nomination," said Senator Robinson, Arkansas, Democratic leader of the senate.

"Among the outstanding features are the reduction of taxes and 'reorganization of the rate structure for freight.' These purposes invite the sympathetic consideration of Democrats, although differences may arise respecting the manner of carrying them into effect.

"His opposition to adjusted compensation legislation is frankly expressed and this subject will provoke a decisive contest.

"I cannot comprehend any plan by which the compulsory consolida-

HEAVY BLANKET PROVES DEATH TRAP OF TOT

(By United Press Leased Wire)

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Dec. 6.—Raymond Williams, eight years old, was found smothered to death today in the folds of a blanket in the back yard of the home of his aunt, Miss Ada M. Wright, East San Diego.

He was the son of E. M. Williams, founder of the Sherwin-Williams Paint company of Cleveland, where his parents are now visiting.

Raymond, according to playmates who saw him shortly before his death late yesterday, had been playing with a blanket which hung on the clothes line, hitting it and wrestling with it.

The position in which he was found indicated that he became so enmeshed in the blanket, air was cut off and he sank to the ground and slowly smothered.

URGES RECALL OF MAYOR IN BATTLE ON DANCING LAWS

(By United Press Leased Wire)

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 6.—With lines tightened and fresh verbal ammunition recruited from the dictionaries, the "Liberals" and the "Long-hairs" today renewed their warfare over whether Los Angeles will go to bed at midnight.

Within less than a week after a couple of police officers entered the door of a motion picture dance and quietly told the orchestra it was time to stop playing, the city has divided in one of the bitterest fights in its long history of spirited contests.

The latest chorus of indignation has demanded that Mayor George E. Cryer and his "Twelve o'clock Cabinet" be recalled, and the request has found a re-echo in newspaper banner headlines.

Action of the police, enforcing a law which everyone had forgotten was on the statute books, in raiding a Masonic charity circus and arresting seven game operators for violating the anti-gambling law, has only served to heighten the protest.

A delegation of Masons visited City Prosecutor Friendlander and, agreeing they wanted to obey the laws, said the circus faces a $25,-

Robbers Beat Victim After Taking Money

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 6.—Fay Miller, 27, guest at a local hotel, was treated at the receiving hospital here today for injuries sustained when he was robbed and badly beaten by two bandits early this morning, according to his story to the police.

He said the men jumped out of a car, took $35 from his wallet and punched and kicked him.

Exceptional Serial Story

In its forthcoming new serial story, "The Fool," The Register offers the reading public something distinctly out of the ordinary. Novels are dramatized often enough. The novelization of a drama is new. It has been done, however, by Russel M. Crouse, with outstanding success in the case of Channing Pollock's wonderful play. Pollock's "The Fool" has been such a theatrical success as the modern stage has seldom known.

It is the story of a young man of wealth who undertook to live, literally, in accordance with the New Testament's teachings. As might have been expected in this day and generation, he found little sympathy or understanding on the world's part. Even, with few exceptions, among the beneficiaries of his sacrifices, he was known as "nut" and "fool". He lost fortune, love, social standing, almost life itself, in the pursuit of an ideal.

Did it pay? "The Fool" thought it did. The reader's answer doubtless will depend on the individual viewpoint. But what ever the answer may be, the problem is an enthralling one—a problem which we all recognize as being "up to" us today as perhaps it has not been presented to us before in 1923 years, and presented in "The Fool" in the compactest, most concrete, unescapable form.

What a literary sensation it has created may be judged from the fact that the printed play ran through six editions in three months. Crouse's novelization is better yet. To say that the reading public is bound to like it is all too conservative a prediction to make. It's a "sensation". That's the only way to describe "The Fool". It will begin in The Register December 8th.

10-ACRE PARK TRACT GIVEN HOLLYWOOD

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 6.—Gift to the city of ten acres of property at Vermont avenue and Hollywood boulevard, known as Olive Hill, together with the mansion which crowns the crest, was announced today by Miss Aline Barnsdall, the owner. The house is to be used for a public library and the hill and its gentle slopes improved as a municipal park, the first in Hollywood.

The property is one of the most valuable in the city. Now covered with olive trees, its rugged sides and expanse have formed a natural barrier between Hollywood and downtown Los Angeles. Improved and made into a park, it will be a real asset to the community.

Miss Barnsdall made the gift in memory of her father, M. P. Barnsdall, an old time oil man, who sank the second oil well to be drilled in this country.

800 Creditors File On Broker's Estate

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 6.—Eight hundred claimants, to the estate of A. W. Coote, bankrupt broker, with demands for approximately $-,500,000 and $400,000 to meet them, today had their petitions before Force Parker, local referee in bankruptcy.

The case will consume several days in the settlement, with a wealth of paper to consider in establishing the claims.

HOLD-UP RAIDS GAS STATION; YET FREE

Search was continued today for the daring, unmasked bandit who, at the point of a gun, held up a gasoline service station at Second and Bush streets last night, and, after looting the cash drawer, forced Burnett Lane, in charge of the station, to accompany him to the street. The bandit robbed the station while machines were passing, then he walked east on Second street to Spurgeon, and turned north.

According to the story told by Lane to the police, the bandit entered the office and forced him to open the cash register. He took a $5 and a $1 bill, in addition to $4 in small change. After pocketing his loot, the bandit kept Lane covered with the gun and forced him to walk to the street with him, apparently to prevent Lane's calling the police.

Lane said that the man had called at the service station earlier in the evening and attempted to sell a watch for $5.

He described the man as about 23 years old, of medium build and with a slight hump between the shoulders.

Foes of Houses Gag Rule Plan to Take Their Case Before Country

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6—Triumphant Progressives today carried to the country their fight to kill the gag rule in the house.

For the next thirty days they will conduct an extensive campaign of education on the evils of the rules of the house which force congressmen to vote for or against measures brought in by the leaders without opportunity to offer amendments.

"By the time the rules committee brings in its report on rules changes," said Representative Nelson, Wisconsin, Progressive leader, "the country will know exactly what we are fighting for and will uphold us."

Democratic leader Garrett indicated that the Democrats "almost to a man" would support the far-reaching rules reforms. Nelson expects to recruit at least sixty supporters for amendments to the present rules, which, broadly, will provide:

1. Abolition of the pocket veto by chairmen of committees unfriendly to measures reported out.

2. Right of a majority of the house to discharge dilatory committees and vote on bills that are "pigeon holed."

3. Repeal restrictions upon amendments to revenue bills.

As an evidence of their good faith, Nelson declared today the Progressives have abandoned their fight for committee places.

Alleged Spirit Fakirs Call On Cleopatra In Seance, Is Claim

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 6.—The spirits of Cleopatra, who they called "Cleo Patrio," were summoned during a mystic seance by "Reverends" William Estep and Sarah Moore, declared R. Shogran, prosecuting witness, in the trial of the two alleged spiritualists which started here today.

The pair is charged with being spirit fakirs.

Cleo revealed, according to Shogran, that she had repented. Cleopatra admitted that she was once a very wicked woman, but now she occupies a high place among the shadowy people of the other world, Shogran said.

Shogran said he paid fifty cents to get into the meeting which was attended by many old women with shawls and others with hair hanging over their faces.

ALLEGE FRAUD IN SUIT OVER LAND DEAL

have exchanged for Fuller's ranch, consisting of 17 7-8 acres at McFadden and Lyons street, Santa Ana, was the substance of accusations made by Fuller. These asserted misrepresentations were made to induce him to exchange his property, he alleged. The exchange was made last March.

Says Revelations Made

According to Fuller, the defendants represented that property in Block B of the Garfield-street addition to Huntington Beach, an interest in which was traded to him, contained four acres, two acres of which was leased to J. W. Jamerson and the other two to the White-Behr Petroleum syndicate for gas and oil development. The latter syndicate, Fuller understood, he said, was under contract to drill two wells, one already being under way and the other to be started within sixty days.

When he discovered the alleged misrepresentations about November 1, he declared he found that the supposed four acres were only two acres, that Jamerson had only a little more than an acre leased and that the White-Behr syndicate had leased less than an acre. Also, he alleged, he found that the White-Behr syndicate had contracted to drill only one well.

Claims Well Misrepresented

Another parcel of property traded to Fuller was a fourth interest in two lots in Block D of the same addition. He claims that it was represented to him that there was a producing well on these lots, drilled to a depth of 4437 feet and cased in with 6 1-4 inch casing, so that if the sand it tapped gave out the well could be deepened with 4 1-4 inch casing to tap another sand at a depth of 5,000 feet.

Fuller said that he found that this well, instead of having 6 1-4 inch casing to its full depth had 4 3-4 inch casing below 3270 feet and could not be deepened.

A third parcel said to have been traded to Fuller was a fourth interest in a lot in Block F of the same addition. Lambert and the Wells represented, he said, that there was a producing well in this lot, drilled to a depth of 4,598 feet and encased to full depth with 6 1-4 inch casing so that it could be deepened with 5 inch casing.

Offer Previously Made

Fuller claimed that this well really had 293 feet of 4 1-4 inch casing at the bottom and could not be deepened.

After making his asserted discoveries and electing, he said, to rescind the contract, he made an offer to the defendants before taking court action, he alleged, to restore the oil property to them, together with all money, he received from it, on condition that they restore his ranch to him, together with all revenues they might have received from it.

This proposal presumably was rejected, as Fuller filed the court action, asking the court to rescind the contract of exchange and compel both sides to reconvey the respective properties to the original owners, together with all funds derived therefrom.

tion of railroads may be effected except through condemnation, which means government ownership.

Democrats Find Fault

"It is apparent that no real solution of the coal problem is proposed and the same is true respecting the distressed condition of agriculture."

Administration Republicans in both houses for the most part look upon the message as courageous, though some of them did not agree entirely with the President, they said.

Senator Lodge privately expressed the keenest disappointment at Mr. Coolidge's "favorable recommendation of the world court."

Lodge said he wished Mr. Coolidge had left out the word "favorable" in his reference to the court.

Senator Willis, Ohio, said the message left no doubt about the President's position on anything.

"No one," said Senator Couzens, Michigan, "can accuse him of pussyfooting, whether they agree with him or not."

Mr. Coolidge's flat opposition to the bonus got very little applause from the house. There was much fidgeting about and significant looks were exchanged by members.

Ignores Bonus Views

Senator Reed, Pennsylvania, one of the most active friends in Congress of the veterans, omitted from his comment on the message all reference to Mr. Coolidge's bonus stand.

"I am especially pleased," said Reed, "with what he said about the care of disabled veterans, tax reduction and immigration."

Almost in the same breath Reed said he believed Pennsylvania ought to send an uninstructed delegation to the next Republican convention.

Senator King, Utah, Democrat, praised Mr. Coolidge for his frank opposition to the bonus.

Senator Fess, Ohio, predicted a "strong fight" over the tax reduction proposals.

The most enthusiastic applause accorded the President came upon his declaration that "America must remain American" in connection with his discussion of immigration. His strong stand in favor of adequate care and adequate hospitalization for veterans or all wars was likewise greeted from all sections of his audience. There is little controversy in Congress on either question.

Representative Kahn, California, chairman of the house military affairs committee, started the handclapping when the president declared for a strong army and navy.

The president finished his message at 1:35, having spoken an hour and four minutes.

Mrs. Coolidge Present.

The president left the White House a few minutes after noon, timing his arrival at the capitol a few minutes before he was scheduled to appear on the speaker's rostrum at 12:30.

Immediately after President Coolidge had left the capitol the house adjourned until Monday out of respect for the memory of the late President Harding.

Appointment of a committee consisting of one member from each state to draw plans for a fitting Harding memorial day in the house was ordered.

Spectacular? No.

There is nothing spectacular about the feed and seed business. We have no bargain days. The very nature of the business is such that, like banking, we must build and hold our business on good goods and good service. We advertise for three reasons.

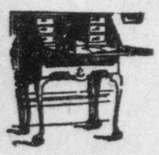

First—To attract new customers into our store. Second—To inform old customers of the various goods that we handle. Third—To introduce and keep before the public new and meritorious articles.

We carry a very complete line of feed, garden, field and flower seed, poultry supplies, fertilizers, spraying materials, and fuel.

Stop in at our store any time and look over our stocks.

EXTENSION OF OIL AREA IS PETITIONED

ORANGE, Dec. 6. — Seeking amendment of the recently established oil zone, now enacted into law, so that their property may be thrown open to oil development, eighteen property owners on North Glassell street, between Rose and Collins avenues, petitioned the city council to alter the oil boundaries in that section on the grounds that, as the ordinance now stands, it represents "unjust discriminative legislation."

Reject Protest.

The protest, presented to the board yesterday afternoon, was rejected on motion of Trustee Hemphill, seconded by Trustee Ainsworth.

The section under fire by the North Glassell street interests is that dealing with prohibiting oil development in the territory described as beginning at a point 150 feet north of Rose avenue, and paralleling the east line of Glassell street to the northerly city limits, and returning on the west side along a corresponding line.

"We believe the boundary should start at a point 150 feet east of Grand street, and 150 feet north of Rose avenue, running west to the Santa Fe railroad," the protestants declared in seeking their land excluded from the banned district.

Says Ordinance Unjust.

"The ordinance," the protestants stated, "is unjust and discriminative because it prohibits oil development without good reason, while many persons bought property in the banned district, partly or wholly for the oil rights conferred by ownership."

As a result, they pointed out, "the ordinance is, in effect, confiscatory because if oil is discovered in commercial quantities on adjacent land private property in the contested destrict will be rendered practically valueless as residential land, while its value as oil bearing will have been destroyed by the ordinance."

The petitioners also declared that the building restrictions in the district are such that, save for oil derricks, only high-class dwellings may be constructed, thus causing, if oil is struck in adjacent territory, many of the lots to be used as refuse dumps, which, they pointed out, would make them less sightly than would properly regulated oil operations.

Furthermore, the protestants alleged, "if the ordinance is allowed to stand, it will cut off a considerable wealth of industry, together with the revenue accruing from taxes."

Fire Parting Shot.

The petition concludes with the parting shot that "oil development, properly supervised, would not be a menace to health as would land studded with sump holes."

The protest, which was of considerable length, was signed by eighteen property owners, who include B. Hartfield, Anaheim; Dr. Houck, Anaheim; W. N. Spires, Los Angeles; W. E. Hollman, Los Angeles; P. B. Kellogg, Santa Ana; Thomas Martin, Anaheim, and Henry Bosch, John Bosch, C. F. Talmadge, Mathilda Rodieck, Vern Barger, A. G. Joost, Will Martin, S. J. Smith, Elizabeth Kroener, G. S. Schroeder and Elizabeth Bartling, all of Orange.

TELL KIWANIS CLUB JR. COLLEGE VALUE

Repeating the program presented to the Lions club three weeks ago, junior college students yesterday presented to members of the Santa Ana Kiwanis club, at its meeting at St. Ann's Inn,, information concerning the activities at the college and its value to the community.

William Adamson, presenting "The Value of the College to the Community," declared the school's operation here is saving to parents of students attendnig this year the vast sum of $184,000. His assertion, he said, was based on the fact that there are 230 students and that the average yearly cost of maintaining a student at an outside college is $800. The average cost for the junior college, he said, was $40 per year.

Overton Luhr discussed "Advantages of the Junior College to the Individual," and George Morton talked on "What We Have at Junior College." Vocal solos by Miss Dorothy Sammis and Earl Sullivan and a piano solo by Miss Mildred Moore completed the program.

Raymond Vandruff had charge of the students' program.

A. B. Rousselle was chairman of the club program committee.

Auto Firm Sues To Regain Car It Sold

Suit for the recovery of a used car, sold by the Bowles Motor company of this city to Melvin Redfield, had been filed in the superior court here today by the motor company, through Attorneys Kaufman and Martell.

Declaring that only $351.04 had been paid upon the purchase price, said to have been $946.71, and electing to repossess the machine, the company asks the court to order the car returned by Redfield.

STUDENTS PLAN CHRISTMAS FETES

"Do you believe in Santa Claus?"

A big red and green poster bearing this question appeared today on the junior college bulletin board, announcing the first of the pre-Christmas functions at the college and the high school. This will be a junior college party tomorrow night.

One after the other, the various clubs of the school will hold their Christmas festivities during the next week, which, the students joyously point out, is the last week before vacation.

Santa Claus suits, tinsel paper, strings of popcorn and all the accessories for the Christmas tree and its decoration are daily making their appearance in many nooks and corners in preparation for next week's parties.

Monday night the Girls' league will serve the lettermen of the high school a banquet, which is to be given by the Hi-Y club.

Wednesday afternoon, the Y. W. C. A. girls will give a Santa Claus party for the children at the Day Nursery, on Garfield street.

One hundred sixty-five Mexican tots at the Artesia school are to be the guests of honor at a Christmas party given them by the members of the Girls' league. Committees for this party are already hard at work, under Miss Virginia Thatcher, president of the league.

The chairmen are:

Dolls, Miss Mable Pruitt; gifts, Miss Josephine Crookshank; candy, Misses Mollie Mosher and Evelyn Metzgar; Christmas tree and decorations, Misses Thelma Patton and Alice Miller; gift tags, Miss Wilma Silver; decoration of dolls, Misses Rebecca Budrow and Ethel Smallwood.

Also remembering the big boys and girls, as well as the small ones, the junior college assembly next Thursday morning at 9:45 will be a Christmas assembly full of surprises planned by the Y. W. C. A. and Y. M. C. A.

Perhaps the gayest of all the school functions next week will be the costume party in the girls' gymnasium Friday afternoon, when the Athena club members will hold their big jollification of the year, around their own Christmas tree.

Mrs. Turner Presents Smart Bridge Tea To Friendly Group

One of the charming affairs of mid-week was the smart party yesterday afternoon, at which Mrs. Ashby Turner of 908 Garfield street entertained four tables of bridge. A color motif of yellow and orange was carried out prettily in the decorative arrangements, Mrs. Ralph M. Doyle making the attractive score cards.

At the close of the games, four prizes were awarded to Mmes. J. E. Liebig, C. V. Davis, Cotton Mather and J. K. Hermon.

The small tables were utilized later in the afternoon for the service of the dainty collation, which also carried out the color effect.

Parent-Teachers

Friendly co-operation and a genial spirit ruled at Roosevelt school last night when the regular P.-T. A. meeting was turned over to the fathers of the association with Dr. Roy Horton as chairman.

It was a goodly crowd of parents that gathered in the school kindergarten and joined in the opening song of America with Miss Gladys Campbell at the piano. The formal business meeting was opened when Dr. Horton called the members to order by means of a remarkable gavel constructed from a block of wood not very much more than a footsquare.

Community singing of a truly historical narrative to a familiar old melody followed, after which William S. Kellogg, principal of the Frances E. Willard Junior high school was introduced and spoke on "Education in Relation to Good Citizenship." The paper was an excellent one, the development of the theme bringing out many interesting points, among them a statement, significant when coming from an educator, that there were no strictly bad children, and there were no average children, each being an individual problem to teachers.

"Too often in their zeal, teachers forget that they are teaching boys and girls, and teach only arithmetic, history or grammar," declared the speaker, pleading for more of the personal element in relations between teacher and pupil.

Vastly entertaining was the spelling match with Asa Hoffman and A. V. Napier heading the two lines of men. "Phlegmatic" as the first word, swept the ranks and the few left standing succumbed to "souvenir." Followed by the women, who proved themselves equally expert spellers, the men rejoiced when Mrs. N. Beisel received the prize for spelling "highfalutin'."

Readings by Eleanor Young Elliott and a women's chorus of "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow" were followed by the paper bag supper of wafers, pickles, sandwiches and all-day suckers.

Dr. Horton in a brief little talk, spoke of the school bond issue, emphasizing its importance and the duty of every qualified voter to register and vote favorably on any school bond issue.

Household Economics

SIXTH SECTION

In order not to conflict with Christmas plans, members of Ebell's sixth section Household Economics have decided to hold their Christmas party on the second Friday in December rather than the customary third and hence will meet Friday, December 14 at the home of Mrs. F. W. Wiesseman, 2025 North Broadway.

The affair will be a 12:30 luncheon and each section member is asked to bring a fun-making gift to hang on the Christmas tree and yield the afternoon's merriment.

FIFTH SECTION

Friday night, December 14 at 8 o'clock, members of Ebell's fifth section Household Economics will meet at the Henry Walters home, 1001 North Parton street, for a Christmas party honoring their husbands.

Mrs. Jesse Goodman and Mrs. George Prather will be associate hostesses with Mrs. Walters and a merry evening is planned. Part of the amusement for the honor guests will be to look on while their wives examine the gifts which section members will exchange. A limit of fifty cents has been set on the value of the gifts and each member will add one to the supply, thus insuring exactly enough for distribution.

Use of City's Water To Campers Refused

City Attorney Z. B. West jr, today forwarded official notice to H. L. Skiles, 2701 North Main street, that he must cease within thirty days supplying tenants of his camping ground with water from a city tap made originally for supplying Skiles's household needs. The city attorney sent the notice in compliance with instructions from the city council given at its meeting last Monday night. Skiles's property is outside the city limits.

It was pointed out at the council meeting that the city is prevented by law extending service outside the limits. The fact that Skiles had been granted permission to use water from the municipal system prior to the law becoming effective, makes city water available to him, but for his family use only, West said.

GAS IN THE STOMACH IS DANGEROUS

Recommends Daily Use of Magnesia to Overcome Trouble Caused by Fermenting Food and Acid Indigestion

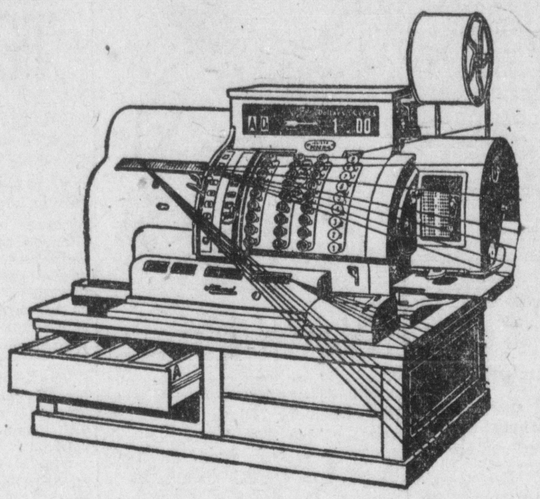

Gas and wind in the stomach accompanied by that full, bloated feeling after eating are almost certain evidence of the presence of excessive hydrochloric acid in the stomach, creating so-called "acid indigestion".

Acid stomachs are dangerous because too much acid irritates the delicate lining of the stomach, often leading to gastritis accompanied by serious stomach ulcers. Food ferments and sours, creating the distressing gas which distends the stomach and hampers the normal functions of the vital internal organs, often affecting the heart.

It is the worst of folly to neglect such a serious condition or to treat with ordinary digestive aids which have no neutralizing effect on the stomach acids. Instead get from any druggist a few ounces of Bisurated Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water right after eating. This will drive the gas, wind and bloat right out of the body, sweeten the stomach, neutralize the excess acid and prevent its formation and there is no sourness or pain. Bisurated Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and the best form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.—Adv.

Dinner Guest Finds Happy Surprise In Birthday Event

Unaware that his birthday was to be celebrated, Ralph Patterson accepted a dinner invitation from his chum, Clifford Cole in the same informal spirit in which it was tendered, only to find upon his arrival at the Cole home, 1902 North Broadway, that his seventeenth birthday was offering incentive for a delicious roast chicken dinner and a merry evening.

With Christmas looming so near, Mrs. Cole chose the Christmas colors in her decorations, scarlet poinsettias lending their cheer to the pleasant rooms. As the guests and family group made their way to the dining-room, it was by the soft candlelight from the seventeen red candles adorning a beautiful birthday cake forming the table's centerpiece.

As the candles were extinguished, it was to a chorus of good wishes for the future of the young honoree. Covers were placed for the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Homer L. Cole and their son Clifford Cole, the guest of honor, Ralph Patterson, his mother and brother, Mrs. Will Patterson and Albert Patterson.

The evening was a pleasant one devoted to games, conversation and music.

Angelenan to Return To This City and Establish a Home

The presence in the city during the past week of Mrs. Blanche Remington of Los Angeles, as a guest of Mrs. M. K. Flint, 1002 North Van Ness street, has been the incentive for many happy courtesies extended by friends of hostess and guest.

These have included theater parties and motor rides over the county while among more formal affairs tendered by different hostesses were Mrs. George Kimball's dinner; a luncheon by Mrs. Will Kimball, a pleasant afternoon tea by Mrs. Anna Mitchell and of course the delightful Thanksgiving dinner over which Mrs. Flint presided.

Mrs. Remington only recently enjoyed a three months' visit in New York City, Philadelphia and other eastern points, but returned to California as the garden spot of the world. She has decided that Santa Ana is the most pleasant spot of all and shortly after the first of the year will come here to make her home.

Popular Nurse Weds Man of Her Choice In Long Beach

A wedding taking place over a week ago in Long Beach which will come as a happy surprise to hosts of local friends, was that of Miss Freda Lord, a well-known and popular nurse of this city, and Hubert Scott Scurlock of Phoenix, Arizona.

The ceremony to which only immediate relatives were bidden, was one of much charm at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. W. H. Dunn on Freeman avenue, Long Beach.

In the living room of the home, a canopy of pink and white ribbons was arranged above an improvised altar adorned with baskets of pink and white carnations. There, the Rev. J. Frank Roach of Long Beach First Methodist Episcopal church, awaiting the coming of the young couple who were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Dunn.

Miss Lord was lovely in her bridal gown of white satin and tulle with which she wore a corsage bouquet of delicate pink rosebuds with a few sprays of orange blossoms. Mrs. Dunn as honor matron, wore a lace trimmed blue organdy with amethysts and carried pink carnations.

Dainty little Dolores Dunn in crisp white organdy frock scattered blossoms from a basket of pink rosebuds.

After taking their wedding vows before the Rev. Mr. Roach, Mr. and Mrs. Scurlock were honor guests at an elaborately served turkey dinner ere donning traveling garb for their honeymoon trip. Upon their return they will be domiciled at 1718 Freeman avenue, Long Beach, where they will welcome their many friends.

The bride as Miss Lord, has been one of the best known nurses in Santa Ana, her skill and personality making her always in demand among both physicians and patients.. Mr. Scurlock is a World War veteran who was decorated for conspicuous bravery in France.

Girls Organize "Fun" Club

A company of young women, former and present attendants at St. Joseph's parochial school, gathered on Monday evening at the home of Miss Ruth Liebermann, 612 French street, and organized the "S.T." club. The object is pure fun.

There are fourteen members of the club, including the hostesses, the Misses Ruth Liebermann and Marie Rudolph, Gertrude and Laura Banks, Louise Shugart, Ada Markel, Eleanor Duhart, Hazel Milne, Gertrude Hamann, Jean Jamison, Lea Smith, Lucille Gisler, Alice Duggan, Helen Allen and Viola Slaughter.

The very hilarious game of "Pig", was one of the enjoyable features of the evening and the "eats" consisted of pie with whipped cream, chocolate, candy and peanuts. The home was decorated with Christmas emblems.

THE MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS are usually the most popular as well as the most expensive features in a home.

Suppose they should burn tonight?

Could you buy a new piano, and a new phonograph tomorrow?

Musical instruments are included in household furniture insurance, and the cost of $1,000 fire insurance is less than 1c a day.

Musical Numbers Will Add to Pleasure of Community Play

Musical numbers to be offered at the Community Players' production of "R. U. R." at the Temple theater Monday to Thursday nights inclusive, next week, are being carefully selected to offer the greatest degree of pleasure to theater-goers, according to Earl Fraser, pianist of the group of talented folk presenting the musical setting, and chairman of committee on arrangements.

Music will be interspersed between the acts as well as open the evening and a group of musicians new to the city will be heard. This will include Ruth Helen Oakes, harpist, who recently arrived from Providence, Rhode Island where she studied several years under the famous New York harpist, Van Veachton-Rogers. Miss Oakes is now studying under Alfred Kastner, first harpist with the Los Angeles Philharmonic orchestra. Her selections for the four evenings will be made from "En Reve" and "Au Printemps" by Gabriel Verdelle; "Valze Albania" by Van Veachton-Rogers and "Song Without Words" by Adam Hahn.

Another newcomer to the city's musical circles is Edwin Franklin, flutist, who has been with both the Boston and the Metropolitan Opera companies and also a member of Sousa's band.

Mr. Franklin will make the third member of the trio with Ollimae Erlow Matthews, violinist and Earl Fraser, piaist. The latter two are too well known to Santa Anans for any introduction to be needed, and the fact that they consider Miss Oakes and Edwin Franklin, decided musical acquisitions is sufficient guarantee of their ability.

The trio will make selections from a group comprising "Serenade" by Widor; Grieg's "Norwegian Dance," "Babillage" by Ernest Gillet; "Song Without Words" by Tschaikowski and "Pastoral Dance" by Edward German.

In Caesar Gianfoni the city has another newcomer to be proud of, as the trombonist and band director was preceded by his fame. In numerous appearances since his arrival, he has won the acclaim of the hundreds who have heard him play. His trombone numbers on the different nights will be strictly operatic and he will make selections from the operas "Ernani," Rigoletto" and "La Tosca."

Garden Grove Club In Social Events

The committee in charge of arrangements for the card party to be given tonight by the Women's Civic club of Garden Grove, at the clubhouse there, today was anticipating a large attendance, according to a statement by Mrs. H. H. Lewis, chairman of the ways and means committee.

Pointing out that the club has a cash payment of $77.50 to make each month on its club-house obligations, Mrs. Lewis said that plans had been completed for holding a party each Thursday evening during the winter months. The weekly program will alternate dancing and cards.

The dancing party for next week has been changed from Thursday to Tuesday evening because of prior engagement of the club house for another purpose, Mrs. Lewis added.

The committee for tonight's party is Mrs. C. D. Henry, Mrs. Jack Jentges and Mrs. Harry Elmore.

POLY DEBATERS WIN REDLANDS TALKFEST

With six victories and five defeats the Santa Ana high school debating team closed its fall season last night by defeating Redlands high school.

Miss Dorothy Clarkson and Gale Jordan of the local high school, made the trip to Redlands with their coach, Elmer T. Worthy. Jordan's concluding address caused much comment, and, according to Worthy, was the best high school rebuttal he ever had heard.

There will be no more high school debates until February when the spring season in the Southern California league opens.

Creative Arts Folk Enjoy An Evening In Bohemia

Cordially greeted by a Japanese lady, a Spanish gypsy and an Irish colleen, members of the Creative Arts enjoyed a Bohemian evening last night at the A. L. Sortor home on South Birch street, with Mrs. Sortor, Miss Beulah May and Miss Hazel Bemus of the art section as the trio of cosmopolitan hostesses.

Entering into the spirit of the evening, many of the members and guests were in costume as well, thus adding to the informal pleasure. No program was followed but each one was given to understand that a bit added to the impromptu entertainment would be acceptable with the result that one pleasant thing after another occupied the evening until a late hour.

Music, readings and stories were offered, among the outstanding things being Madame Manuela Budrow's singing despite the fact that she had no music with her; Miss Mabel Woodworth in several delightful piano numbers including Percy Granger's "Juba Dance" and a Debussy number and Alice Fessenden Peterson (Mrs. B. D. Peterson) of the writers' group consenting to improvise at the piano in her delightful manner.

Cider, doughnuts and apples added their own peculiar interest to the occasion, while the most distinctive feature of the refreshment hour was the fine old Russian samovar from which the cider was supposed to be served and which Miss Bemus had secured last year in San Francisco.

The samovar had belonged to a Russian family sufficiently Americanized to prefer a shiny new aluminum percolator and more than willing to sell the beautifully preserved old brass piece which bears an inscription from the place of its manufacture, a Russian town famous for its brasses.

Aid Society

Yesterday at the Christian church community house, over fifty members of the Aid society gathered for an all-day sewing party with an appetizing dinner served at noon. Twelve comforts were knotted as a result of the day's work.

Business discussed, included plans for the annual "newsies' banquet," which the members of the society tender to the newsboys of the city and which is ever one of the outstanding events of the holidays. While the exact date was not selected yesterday, Mrs. T. D. Knights stated that it would be late in December and appointed Mrs. W. B. Williams as general chairman with Miss Helen Walker to plan games and amusements.

In view of the meeting in this city in January of the Southern California Men's Federated Bible classes, the society was asked to prepare a banquet for the evening of the one day convention, with over 400 persons to provide for.

In anticipation of the approaching election of officers, Mrs. Knights named a nominating committee to be composed of Mesdames A. W. Gerrard, George Huntington, Will Hagthrop, T. P. Kingrey and A. V. Naiper.

During the afternoon a happy surprise honored Mrs. F. M. Gist, well-loved teacher of the Women's Bible class when she was presented with a huge birthday cake surmounted by twinkling pink candles, baked and presented by Mrs. T. Q. Townsend in honor of Mrs. Gist's birthday, December 6.

Knights of Columbus

J. Ogden Markel, lecturer for the Knights of Columbus, engineered a clever and enjoyable bit of advertising last evening, when he took the Fraternal Brotherhood orchestra and a party of men and women over to the K. C. meeting at Anaheim. The purpose was to tell the Anaheim Sir Knights about the coming entertainment on Saturday, December 15, at Knights of Columbus hall for the purpose of obtaining a fund for the St. Joseph school Christmas tree.

The delegation was given a rousing welcome, and following a program of music by the orchestra and piano and saxophone duets by Miss Zelma Hayward and her brother, Orland and two clever readings by Urban J. Engelmann, Carl M. Heim, announced the entertainment and forty tickets were sold to the Sir Knights present. Mr. Markel was host to the Santa Anans at the Walnut cafe following the meeting.

The fine address of the evening was made by George Reid, secretary of the Anaheim Chamber of Commerce, who presented the need of Orange county for industrial sites, so as to form a "pay-roll" for the men who come here to locate and need work in order to make a living. The speaker said that industries wanting to locate in the county will not pay citrus land prices, and urged that steps be taken to purchase land that can be offered to projects at a price they will pay.

FARM CHIEF IN QUARANTINE REVIEW

Addressing horticultural commissioners representing more than fifty California counties at the final session of the convention of state horticultural commissioners here late yesterday. G. H. Hecke, director of the state department of agriculture, gave a comprehensive review of the work done by his department, called attention to the necessity for close cooperation between the commissioners and the agricultural department, and stressed the importance of the work being done by the bureau of plant quarantine and other state organizations.

Touching upon quarantine measures, the state director said, in part:

"The quarantine was designed solely and entirely to prevent the fruit and vegetable industry of the United States from being ruined by the introduction and establishment of the various species of fruit flies.

Sees Continual Fight

"As a result of the work done at Sacramento and through the hearty and intelligent co-operation of the respective horticultural commissioners, we have been able to accomplish a great deal. Much remains to be done, however, and we must continue to fight every foot of the way in our effort to keep foreign pests out of our rich agricultural districts."

Hecke, after outlining the policy followed by his department after the retrenchments in state governmental affairs, said Governor Richardson had been more than just in his disposition to treat agriculture fairly.

"I am afraid," said Hecke, "that too many growers and shippers have felt that the high levels attained during the war should have been continued, but in the nature of things we are now returning to normal, and we must expect lower levels, as far as prices are concerned."

California Promoted

Hecke said plant quarantine and other protective measures will be continued under the direction of W. C. Jacobsen, chief of the bureau of plant quarantine, and declared that the promotion of Lee A. Strong, to a position with the federal horticultural board was a source of great personal pleasure.

"With Strong in Washington," said Hecke, "we are sure of one thing, and that is that we have a man at the national capital who is thoroughly conversant with all the needs of the west, particularly California, and one who can be depended upon to present our side of the case in a very thorough manner."

Richardson Due Here

Hecke, who was to deliver one of the pr incipal addresses at the opening session of the fifty-sixth fruit growers' convention here today, was roundly applauded when he informed the horticultural commissioners that Governor Richardson and members of the board of control would be here tomorrow to hear at first hand the needs of agriculture in California. He congratulated the commissioners upon their choice of A. A. Brock, Orange county horticultural commissioner, as president of the State Horticultural Commissioners' association.

Others who addressed the afternoon session were W. C. Jacobsen, chief of the bureau of plant quarantine; A. C. Fleury, supervising quarantine officer, of Sacramento; W. F. Allewalt, fruit and vegetable bureau, G. P. Weldon, Stanley Rogers, Ethelbert Johnson, Harry S. Smith and others.

Copying of Speech Halted While 'Interlarding' On

When is a court reporter not a court reporter?

When he stops copying—by request.

At least, such is the impression today of Eugene Hoff, court reporter employed to make a transcript of the proceedings of the fifty-sixth annual fruit growers' convention.

Eugene, turning out queer pen characters, was getting along swimmingly while D. Eyman Huff, G. H. Hecke, S. C. Hartranft and others held the center of the stage.

Then James Mills, chairman of Governor Richardson's agricultural council, and one of the best known agricultural leaders in the state, appeared upon the scene.

"Now, I'm going to say something," declared the genial Mills, "but I serve notice on you right now, Mr. Reporter, that if you keep on writing, I'm not going to say it. I have a copy of my manuscript, and I will give you this, but if you stop copying, I'll do some interlarding."

The reporter looked dubious, but smilingly obeyed the gentle hint, and the fountain pen took a little nap.

When he had finished "interlarding," which really wasn't so very serious an offense, after all, Mills gave Hoff a dig in the ribs, and a little later the fountain pen went into commission.

F. J. Zeehandlaar, secretary of the Merchants and Manufacturers' association, issued a statement demanding Mayor Cryer's recall "if necessary to remedy the intolerable situation which has reached its climax."

Hollywood, which started all the trouble in a protest against closing the motion picture directors' dance at midnight, marked time as downtown business men and bankers took up the standard. A mass meeting to form a non-partisan political league will probably be called for Monday night.

According to Hawkins, $750 cash bail was put up by him for A. O. Kepler, who was under arrest. Kepler was discharged and the bail was returned to Zimmerman, who was defending Kepler. Zimmerman then refused to turn the money over to him, Hawkins charges.

FRUIT GROWERS MERIT AID, IS HECKE CLAIM

Farmers and fruit growers of the great state of California are "morally, legally and in every other sense, entitled to every facility which may in any way be afforded them in the protection and development of their industry by a department of agriculture fundamentally sound and permanently organized," according to G. H. Hecke, director of the state department of agriculture, who delivered one of the principal addresses at the opening of the fifty-sixth annual fruit growers' convention here today.

Among the outstanding features of the state director's address were the following:

"Probably at no time in the history of agriculture have general conditions been more acute in the country at large than has been the case during the past crop season.

Elections Reflect Conditions

"Last year the farmers of the great corn belt states were in a very critical condition so far as prices were concerned.

"This year, the wheat farmers find themselves in a period of almost as great depression.

"The result has been that farmers throughout the Middle West are in a state of general unrest, and this condition has evidenced itself by the election of senators and representatives to congress pledged to remedy the situation insofar as government action is concerned.

"Even world conditions deserve the serious and thoughtful consideration of every farmer and fruit grower in California. We face a general world condition in agriculture which is none too favorable. Add to this the political situation which exists in Europe, curtailing tremendously the demand for many California products, and it is obvious that we have a condition which calls for intelligent leadership.

California Fares Well

"The increase in production in California has been little short of remarkable. During the season just closing, the deciduous fruit lines, including fresh grapes have shipped to eastern markets over 62,000 carloads, as compared with 50,000 carloads last year.

"Probably the most dramatic situation in California exists in the grape and raisin industry. This season there were shipped out of California in the fresh state, 50,000 cars of grapes. This represents an increase in shipments during the past ten years unparalleled in our agricultural production. Next season, with normal conditions, 60,000 cars of grapes will be moved. A general demoralization in the grape market may be expected unless very serious attention is paid to quality, condition, and the manner of packing.

Standardization Stressed

"In Southern California, with your splendid co-operative organizations, the growers have not suffered as have the farmers north of the Tehachapi. The walnut industry and the citrus industry are in a general substantial condition, due largely to sound marketing policy. We estimate, however, the largest citrus fruit crop in the history of the state for the coming season, running largely to small sizes. This condition calls for the earnest co-operation of every grower in putting up a pack which is standardized most carefully.

"At present, deciduous fruit shippers in Northern California are pressing the interstate commerce commission for a reduction in freight rates. An appreciable reduction has just been granted the citrus fruit shippers through the splendid efforts of your organizations. Every effort must be directed toward securing economy in the costs of production, for the sad part of the general condition has been that, while prices have decreased, costs of production have, on the contrary, risen very materially.

Governor Is Praised

"A number of changes have been made necessary by reason of the economy program of the administration. Governor Richardson was elected on an economy program. He realized the need for economy, but did not desire to sacrifice efficiency.

In order to get as close as possible to agricultural opinion, the governor appointed an agricultural council of five farmers to correlate the views of those interested in the agricultural industry, to the end that the department of agriculture might properly function for the protection of agriculture.

The appointment of this council has proved a very wise action, for its members have recommended and secured material adjustments in appropriations which might have been curtailed had the council not been called into existence.

"Probably the most important service of the council was performed in acquainting the governor with the needs of the agricultural industry in the state.

Financing Important

"One of the prominent problems which has occupied the attention of our agricultural and financial leaders is that of financing the farmer in the production and marketing of his crops. This question has been partially solved by the organization and management of our large co-operative organizations.

"The farmers and fruit growers are morally, legally, and in every other way entitled to every facility which may in any way be afforded them in the protection and development of their industry by a department of agriculture fundamentally sound and permanently organized—a department of agriculture properly manned, and circumscribed in administration only by the legitimate bounds of sound business policy."

The women of Lapland are among the smallest in the world, averaging only four feet nine inches in height.

HORTICULTURAL EXPERTS GIVE ADDRESSES

Orange county was not unconscious of the great honor conferred upon it. He then tendered the keys of the cities to the delegates, assured them that the homes and hearts of the people were open to them, and urged the visitors to avail themselves of every comfort and convenience possible.

Director Hecke, in responding, said:

"I have attended many conventions of this kind, but I am sure we have never received so cordial a greeting as the one just extended us. We are glad to be here today, for we regard Orange county as a vital asset in our agricultural scheme of things. That the delegates will enjoy themselves to the utmost goes without saying."

Other Program Details

Following the report of James Mills, of the Governor's agricultural council, Dr. H. J. Webber, dean of the college of agriculture; A. C. Hardison, president of the California Farm Bureau federation, A. D. Shamel, of the bureau of plant industry, were scheduled to appear upon the program. Appointment of the resolutions committee, regarded as one of the utmost importance, was also scheduled for today's session.

At this afternoon's session, D. Eyman Huff was scheduled to preside, with addresses scheduled for George C. Roeding, president of the California Nursery company, and others.

Tomorrow, the forenoon session will be called to order by President A. C. Hardison, who will receive reports from the fruit growers' executive committee, reports of transportation committees, the report of the agricultural legislative committee and other routine reports. Addresses by leading agriculturists and railway and steamship officials were also slated for tomorrow.

Friday night will be enlivened by a monster banquet to be served at St. Ann's Inn, with James Mills presiding as toastmaster and with Governor F. W. Richardson as one of the guests of honor. Saturday will be devoted to sightseeing tours of Orange county.

Chairman Huff again stressed the fact that women will be welcome at Friday night's banquet.

One of the most interesting features of today's session was the operation of a leased telegraph wire, installed in the high school by the F. O. B. Auction company, which conducts a sale of California oranges through direct connections with New York, Chicago and other eastern cities.

Long Distance Service

FROM fifteen to twenty-one telephone operators cooperate in establishing a New York-San Francisco circuit; and other telephone employees by scores must be at their posts to insure efficient transmission.

That you may have a choice of destination for your voice, a vast network of Bell System circuits interconnects all important centers, reaching millions of homes and business places.

Over these circuits more than 158,000 traffic employees stand guard. But long before these highways of speech were ready for use another army of workers had wrestled with problems of construction and maintenance.

A huge manufacturing plant had mobilized its forces.

Thousands of toilers in mine and forest had sought raw materials.

Physicists and chemists, through laboratory research, had laid a sure foundation for efficient service.

All the forces and wonders of industry and science have been drawn upon to serve you when you make a long distance telephone call.

INDUSTRY MEET EXPECTED TO ATTRACT 200

Last minute reservations were being made today at the Chamber of Commerce for the industrial dinner to be held here tonight at St. Ann's Inn. Accommodations have been arranged for 200 guests and it is estimated that virtually every seat at the table will be filled. A. G. Arnoll, assistant secretary of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce and head of the industrial department of that organization will be the principal speaker of the evening.

Arnoll will talk on "Can Santa Ana attract industries?" He recently completed an industrial survey of this city and is prepared to tell the people of the city what is needed to place Santa Ana among the industrial centers of the Pacific Southwest.

According to J. C. Metzgar, secretary of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce, more industries are needed in this city.

"There is no reason why Santa Ana should not become an industrial center," Metzgar said today. "Climatic conditions are ideal and transportation, the big requirement of all manufacturing plants, is adequtely fulfilled here. Three rail lines enter this city and road conditions for truck transportation are of the best.

"Tentative plans for the development of Newport Harbor as a commercial port will, if carried out, open this section as a world trading center and offer another outlet to Santa Ana-made products. The residents of this community realize these advantages. The purpose of this dinner tonight is to discuss plans for the attracting to this city large manufacuring interests of the east.

"Arnoll is an industrial expert and has made a through survey of the situation in Santa Ana. He will outline a tentative program the attracting of manufacturing plants to this city and will tell the limitations of the community and how to overcome them. Those who have not already made reservation for this dinner are urged to do so at once."

Identity of Option Holder Is Disclosed

Mrs. George Carroll, owner of the property located on the state highway at what is known as the Culver corner, is the person who has obtained an option on the home property of A. W. Rutan, northwest corner of Washington avenue and North Main street, it became known here today.

At the same time it was learned that the transaction is scheduled to be closed December 21, and that in all probability Mrs. Carroll will lease the property for a business enterprise.

DELAY IN GAME LAW TEST CASE IS SEEN

Further delay in the test of the state game law that includes private property within a game refuge was in prospect today, when it was announced that attorneys in the case of County Treasurer J. C. Joplin, who is charged with violating the law in question, would not be ready to proceed with the trial, set for 2 p. m. in Justice J. B. Cox's court here.

Postponement of the trial to some date next week would be asked, it was stated by District Attorney A. P. Nelson, in charge of the prosecution. The delay was made necessary because a stipulation of facts which is to be filed in the case, it is said, has not yet been completed. This stipulation was agreed on by Nelson and defense counsel, H. C. Head and L. A. West, in order that the case may go to issue on a question of law, it was announced.

Joplin questions the constitutionality of the law on the ground that it includes private property within the confines of a game refuge. Joplin's property in Bell canyon is inside of a game refuge. He was arrested for hunting upon his own ranch.

GERRARD BROS. STORE NO. 4 IS OPENED

With remodelling and enlargement completed Gerrard Brothers' Alpha Beta store No. 4, 302-4 East Fourth street, this morning was thrown open for business.

According to A. W. Gerrard, manager of the store, the firm spent approximately $20,000 in remodelling and installing new fixtures. Pointing out that the enlargement was made with a view to giving east-end patrons of the enterprise better service, Gerrard said that the present floor space was doubled.

Instituting a new order in identification of articles in the grocerteria, Gerrard brothers have printed in full the classification of articles that may be found on shelves under the names.

Articles Classified

Previously, identification had been by letters, a system conceded to be somewhat confusing to "help yourself" patrons, and particularly to customers who were not accustomed to this method of merchandising.

Finished in white, the new store presents an inviting appearance, while the arrangement of the various departments is such as to offer the greatest convenience to customers.

An added feature is the confectionery and soda fountain. This department is in charge of C. S. Underwood, for the past fifteen years owner of the Mission confectionary at Riverside. Underwood will manufacture the candies sold at the store.

Heads Bakery Dept.

Mrs. May Wilkerson, with Gerrard brothers for the past five or six years, has been placed in charge of the bakery department, while Paul Jones will direct operations of the vegetable and fruit stand. M. D. Haskell is at the head of the meat department.

The larger store is the result of the firm's acquisition several months ago of the twenty-five foot store and lot adjoining its old location at 304 East Fourth street. The new store room is 50x125 feet, with a portion of the rear part of the room being utilized for storage. The improvements have been in progress for two months.

ABANDON TWO BEACH WELLS DURING WEEK

One of the seven oil wells in the state upon which deepening or redrilling of wells was started during the week ending December 1 was in the Huntington Beach oil field, according to the weekly report of the state oil and gas inspector, reaching here today. The well was No. 2 of the Pacific Petroleum corporation.

In the same period three tests for water shut offs were made in the same field. They were Pan-American Petroleum company's No. 3; Standard Oil company's No. 14, on the Bolsa lease, and the Down East Company's No. 2.

Two wells were abandoned at Huntington Beach during the week, these being Pacific Petroleum corporation's No. 6 and Olig Crude Oil company's No. 2.

During the week eighteen new wells were started, as against twenty-eight for the previous week. For the year to December 1, 1313 new wells had been started, as compared with 1341 to the same date last year.

Realtors Plan To Celebrate Parley Start Anniversary

With tomorrow being the date of the anniversary of the opening session here of the annual convention of the California Real Estate association, the Santa Ana Board of Realtors, its meeting at Kettner's tomorrow noon, will celebrate the anniversary.

Glenn Willaman, secretary of the state association, will be present, and Henry Barbour, of Long Beach, president, has been invited to be present and is expected to accept the invitation.

According to J. C. Wallace, secretary of the Santa Ana board, the success of the convention here a year ago is being constantly referred to by realtors all over the state. He pointed out that at the last convention in Sacramento many references were made to the sessions here, the character of program presented and the warm hospitality extended by the city.

Awards Contract

According to announcement today by A. B. Rousselle, he has awarded to A. N. Holford, of Tustin, a contract for installation of cement sidewalks and grading and graveling of streets in his new subdivision, known as McFadden tract No. 4. The contract calls for an expenditure of $25,000, Rousselle said.

The road work will be under the supervision of the county, the subdivider said.

Pointing out that sixty-nine lots have been sold, Rousselle said that construction of eight houses now is under progress.

The subdivider also called attention to the fact that children accompanied by their parents may register for the drawing for a new Star automobile to be given to some one writing his name on the register at the tract office.

Court Has Sentence Scheme to Separate Youthful Partners

The end of an erstwhile asserted partnership of the highway, which brought three youths into court on vagrancy charges, was foreseen today with Kenneth Slattery, 19, Jerry Yoris, 19, and James McGreary, 19, serving sentences in the county jail.

Justice J. B. Cox took steps to dissolve the partnership late yesterday when the three youths were haled before him and he learned that one of them, Slattery, had money, but refused to desert his "partners" because they were "broke."

"I'll fix it so you'll not be together when you get out," said the court, sentencing Slattery to twenty days, Yoris to twenty-five days, and McGeary to thirty days.

Deputy Sheriff Scott Willson arrested the trio near Irvine.

Wife Says She, Child Deserted; Asks Decree

Mrs. Juliana Gonzales charged that she was deserted by her husband, Jesus Gonzales, in this city January 1, 1922, in her divorce complaint, which was on file today in the superior court here, through Attorney O. A. Jacobs.

Non-support was alleged as additional grounds for a decree. The couple were married here May 9, 1921, and have one child, a daughter.

Gets 6 Months Jail Term As Shoplifter

Enrique Gomez, Mexican, who was arrested for alleged shoplifting here, today was launched on a sentence of six months in the county jail.

Appearing late yesterday before Justice J. B. Cox, Gomez was found guilty of petit larceny, he having stolen, it was alleged, a $24.50 coat from a local store.

ONLY $150,000 YET IS NEEDED FOR HOSPITAL

Workers in the campaign to raise funds for the proposed new Santa Ana Valley hospital here were jubilant today wen it was announced that slightly more than half of the required $300,000 set as the goal, has been procured.

The report of the campaign status was made by team members who assembled last night at the office of Dr. J. M. Burlew in the Spurgeon building. These workers reported having procured subscriptions of $13,575 since their meeting a week ago. A total of $152,300 is now on hand, as represented by subscriptions to stock in the new hospital association and in the property acquired by the organization when it took over the Community hospital here.

Campaigners made it clear that a number of exceptionally fine promises of subscriptions had been procured, to be fulfilled after the first of the year. It was explained that a number of prospective purchasers of large blocks of stock informed the workers that they desired to wait until after stock inventories were taken before deciding definitely on the amount that would be subscribed.

The Merchants and Manufacturers' association of this city has contributed $100 as an organization for the purchase of hospital stock, it was announced.

Predict Big Year Of Building For This Community

Declaring that inquiries from prospective home builders are increasing in number, C. O. Neese, of Neese and McCoid, local authorized agents for the Pacific Ready Cut Homes, inc., said here today that building activity here would continue through the coming year, despite the fact it will be a 'presidential year.'

"Every factor conducive to home building is present—easy money, reasonable prices for material, plenty of labor in the building trades and prosperity," said Neese.

"Shrewd investors and realtors have their eyes on Santa Ana and the Newport harbor district. Anyone who takes the trouble to investigate will find this immediate locality more widely discussed than any other among men who are the motive power in large projects. It is not a wild assertion to say that with the addition of a few substantial industrials Santa Ana soon will become a second Los Angeles in the point of rapid expansion and development."

Check Case Suspect's $259 Bail Is Forfeited

Failing for the second time to appear in court when scheduled, J. W. Roper of Huntington Beach today had forfeited $250 in bail money posted with Justice J. B. Cox here.

Charged with check kiting, Roper was originally ordered to appear December 2 for preliminary hearing. When he failed to appear then and it was said that he might have misunderstood the date to be December 5, the hearing was continued to that time to give Roper the benefit of the doubt. Late yesterday, however, he was still absent, so the court declared his bail forfeited.

YOUNG FOLK PLAY IN 'ALMOND EYES'

Scores of Frances E. Willard Junior high school students here became thespians for the time being today, when they gave a matinee performance of "Almond Eyes," musical play, at the Temple theater. Performances also are to be given this evening and tomorrow evening.

The young people had worked industriously for many weeks in the preparation of the piece, and it was predicted that the production would be pronounced an unqualified success.

Police Destroy 400 Gallons of Liquor Taken During Raids

The city of Santa Ana yesterday destroyed more than 400 gallons of illicit wines and liquors taken, in a series of raids, from persons who believed that prohibition was merely a rumor.

Assisted by City Attorney Z. B. West jr. and newspapermen, police carried the accumulation into the covered alley at the rear of the city hall and poured the fiery liquid down a manhole. Delegates to the horticultural convention, employes of the city hall and pedestrians formed an audience.

There was every form of intoxicating liquor imaginable in the store. The stuff ranged from small bottles of Jamaica ginger to alleged bonded whiskey. After the liquor had been poured out the stills and all containers were destroyed.

BUILDING OF ACCESSORY PLANT IS STARTED

Local Man Is Identified With New Industry to Be Opened Here

PLAN EXPANSION

Will Prepare For Increase In Building As Plant Is Constructed

Clearing of ground today was in progress on a site at the corner of Delhi road and the Pacific Electric tracks upon which will be erected at once a factory building for housing machinery for the manufacture of automobile accessories, according to announcement today by Andrew Cock, owner of Chanticleer Manor subdivision on South Main street.

With a prominent local man identified with them, E. C. Belding and Floyd Gibson, who have been in the city for the past four months, will manage and operate the factory plant, Cock said.

The first unit of the building will be 30x60 feet and will be erected and machinery installed in time for operation of the plant by January 1, Cock added.

Belding and Gibson come from New York, where the former was employed with the Hot Point manufacturing concern for nine years. Gibson was employed in the factory of the General Electric company for thirteen years, according to Cock.

Six men will be employed in the factory to start with, and provision has been made for further expansion as business develops, Cock announced. He said that plans contemplated finally the erection of a building 200x133.

Pointing out that one of the products of the new factory will be a combination step and baggage carrier, Cock said that the manufacturing concern is offering as a prize the first carrier manufactured to the man or woman who suggests the best name for the plant .

JUANITA WRIGHT FLETCHER, member of the Community Players, who will appear in "R. U. R.," fantastic melodrama which will be presented at the Temple theater four nights, beginning Monday night.

"Gratifying as attendance at previous productions of the Community Players has been, I feel safe in predicting that the seat sale for 'R. U. R.,' which we will present at the Temple theater four nights, beginning Monday night, will establish a new record for us," George Gerwing, assistant director of Santa Ana's popular organization of amateur actors and actresses, declared here today.

"In the very nature of things, provided that our productions are kept at a high standard, it is inevitable that we should be attracting constantly greater audiences," Gerwing continued. "Santa Ana's cultural growth is keeping pace with its material growth.

"As the residents of the county seat of 'nature's prolific wonderland' become more and more comfortably situated as regards this world's goods, it follows that they will have more time to devote to the finer things of life. Consequently, the theater gets an ever-increasing share of patronage. Consequently, too, the intellectual theater becomes increasingly popular—for the simple dramatic fare that delighted the folk of thirty or even twenty years ago no longer attracts.

Home Building and Loan Association Plans Growth of $300,000

Indicating the expansion of Santa Ana and the demand for its service, the Home Mutual Building and Loan Association of Santa Ana today was directing plans for increasing its capitalization from $2,000,000 to $5,000,000, according to O. M. Robbins, secretary.

Pointing out that the association now has operative 9700 of its 10,000 shares, Robbins said that the directors at their meeting this week authorized calling of a special meeting of stockholders for February 19, 1924, for the purpose of voting an increase in the capital stock.

The secretary also pointed out that further expansion of the service offered by the organization would be impossible unless the capitalization is increased. Supplying money for the building of homes, and return of the borrowed money in monthly installments is the big purpose of the association.

Evidencing the prosperity of the association, the directors at their meeting also voted a dividend of one per cent, payable on the 15th of January. For the first time in its history the organization paid a similar dividend last January. It is made to avoid the extra work involved in apportioning it above the 7 per cent compounded monthly credited to stock.

Pointing out that the association since organization has made 1300 loans for the building of new homes and 1050 for the purchase of homes, Robbins said that the total of loans in force on November 30th was $1,332,348.69, while assets were $1,395,222.73. As indicative of appreciation by the public of the service offered, the secretary said that $640,000, or nearly half of the total loans, had been made between January 1 and November 30 of the present year. The amount loaned in the eleven months was $175,000 more than was loaned during the year 1922.

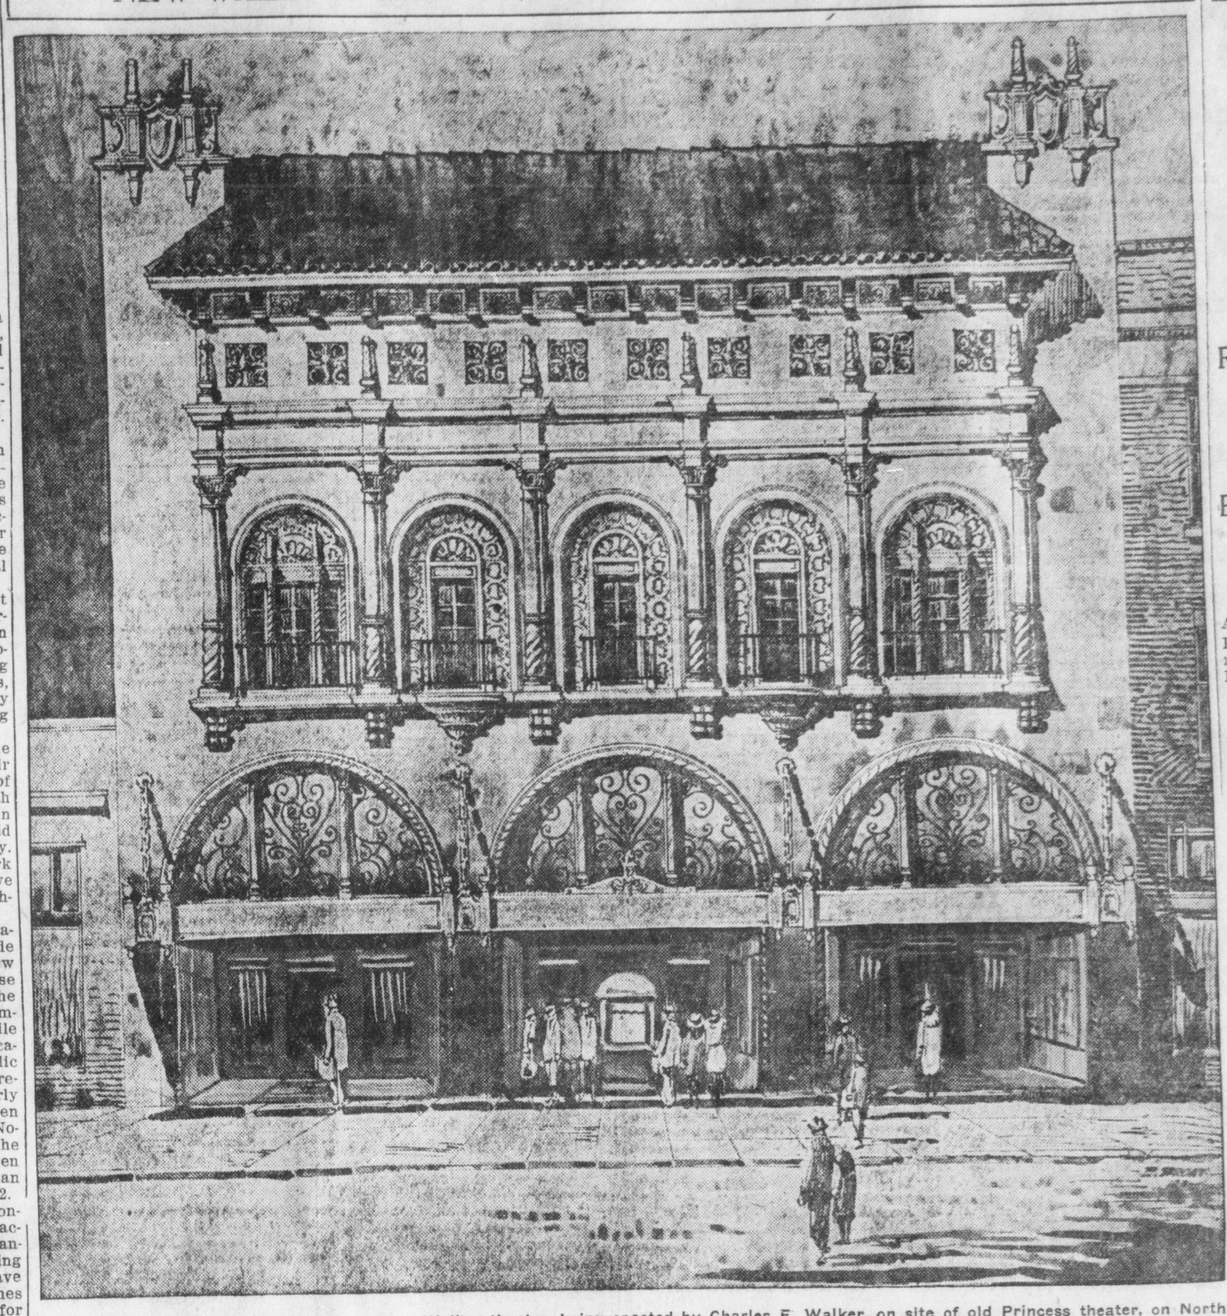

An interesting feature in connection with recapitulation of activities of the association is announcement that since the signing of the armistice 610 loans have been made for building new homes while 450 loans have been made for the purchase of homes. For the eleven months in this year 110 loans had been made for erection of new buildings, most of the new construction being in Santa Ana.

Pointing out that the par value of stock is $200, Robbins said that 2354 shares had been sold during the eleven months.

Walker, on site of old Princess theater, on North Main, between Third and Fourth streets, at a cost of $150,000, including furnishings, according to plans and specifications drawn by Carl Boller, architect, Los Angeles. According to Walker, the new playhouse will be formally opened New Year's eve.

Banker Suggests Plan For Development By Local Capital

The wondrous growth of Santa Ana has attracted the attention of Los Angeles theatre men. According to E. R. Cooper, of the Cooper Hotel a representative of the Loew and Grauman Theater interests of Los Angeles was in thi scity several days ago surveying this city as a potential field for development by the interests he represents. The agent expressed himself as favorably impressed by Santa Ana. He indicated that he was preparing to recommend that the syndicate represented by himself take steps to secure a location for an up-to-date theater in this city.

Several other Los Angeles theatre corporations have also cast longing eyes on this city as the possible site for a theater was indicated today by several business men who have met representatives of these corporations.

A suggestion has been offered by a representative of one of Santa Ana's leading banking firms that will bring to this city one of the finest theaters in Southern California and will hold the proposition intact as a Santa Ana project.

A stock company owns a parcel of land on Broadway near the business district, in fact a part of the business district, which can be developed as a motion picture site. It has been suggested that this site be developed by the erection of a moving picture theater of the highest type and an apartment building. According to the plar, tentatively suggested, the theater might

LABOR TEMPLE TO BE ANAHEIM PLAN

The Orange County Council of Labor has decided to erect its proposed $100,000 labor temple in Anaheim, and has appointed a committee to select the site, arrange for the plans and develop plans for selling stock in the Orange County Labor Temple association, according to a report from Anaheim.

The committee is announced as composed of H. G. Archibald, E. M. Henshaw and W. H. Kelsey. Pointing out that shares will be sold at $10 each, a member of the council today said that a majority of members of labor organizations in the county had expressed a desire to invest at least $20 each. This, it was said, insures sale of a controlling majority of the stock to members. It was expected today that def-

With C. E. Walker scheduling a program for formal opening of his new theater on New Year's eve, construction workmen are working day and night in an effort to complete the structure in time to permit installation of furnishings for the opening night.

According to announcement by Walker today, indications are that the contractors and workmen will be out of the way in time for him to carry through his scheduled plans.

Declaring that the completed building and furnishings would represent an investment of $150,000, Walker said that the new theater would be the equal in beauty and arrangement of any house of similar size located anywhere in the southland.

The new amusement place will have a seating capacity of 1200 with every convenience for patrons and with arrangements that will make it possible to empty the house in short order should fire break out.

Expansion of the residence district east was indicated at Garden Grove today by announcement that F. E. Farnsworth had sold his forty acre tract adjoining the town on the east to Sweet, Stone and Cook, Long Beach men, at a reported consideration of $100,000.

It is said the purchasers will at once subdivide the acreage into one and one and one-half acre home sites. The tract is planted to walnuts.

Pointing out that the subdivision is within three blocks of the new school, a Garden Grove resident said today that he believed that homesites would be quickly snapped up by prospective home owners. According to reports there is a good pumping plant on the acreage and this will

FOURTH STREET PROPERTY VALUES

What is property on Fourth street, between Sycamore and Broadway, worth?

Answers to that question would undoubtedly vary. Perhaps the answer most often given would be, "It is worth what you can get for it." That, however, is not always true. Frequently property sells for more than it is worth; also sometimes it sells for less than it is worth.

As indicating, at least with a fair degree of accuracy, the value of property on Fourth street, between Sycamore and Broadway, two offers made within the last ten days may be cited.

In Riverside the other day Mr. J. Schenken, who formerly owned the Smart Shop in this city, exhibited a telegram offering him $2000 per front foot for the 25 feet he owns, on the north side of Fourth street, between Sycamore and Broadway. The property contains a one-story building occupied by the H. W. Thomas Shoe Store and Shoe Repair Shop. And a singular coincidence is that a few days before Schenken received this offer he had offered Ray Chandler the same price for his property, adjoining the Schenken property on the west. Both offers were refused.

The Schenken property was acquired by its present owner some five years ago at the price of $18,500.00; now he gets an offer of $50,000.00, which he declined, and he offers to buy more property at the advanced price.

Incidentally Schenken said, "Tell the people of Santa Ana that I'll be back at the good old town within a year with the finest cloak and suit house in Southern California."

be leased to the syndicate at present planning to enter the Santa Ana field.

The theater site suggested by the banking firm official is near enough to the center of business activities to warrant the interest of outside capital for a theatrical investment and is near enough to the center of the city to be convenient to residents of all parts of the city.

This site has been suggested because it is available at present and has been considered by the representative of the Los Angeles theatrical syndicate. This man who spent several days in Santa Ana indicated that the syndicate represented by himself might be interested in a proposition whereby local people erected a theater and leased it to the company represented by himself.

contemplate the manufacturing of accessories made of brass and aluminum. Suggestions should be addressed to E. C. Belding, 1136 West Fourth street, Santa Ana, Cock said.

"The manufacturing organization is completely financed and there will be no stock selling campaign in connection with introduction of the factory," said Cock. "It will add another factory to the list in Santa Ana and to the industrial section developing in the south side of Santa Ana, one of the most favorable locations in the city for industrials."

Two Land Trades Are Reported in Escrow by Agents

Two exchanges involving Orange county and Riverside county lands representing a total exchange value of approximately $175,000 were in escrow today, according to a statement by J. Wiley Harris, of Harris brothers, realtors negotiating the transactions.

W. J. Leisser, of this city, is trading to C. H. Harris of the Anaheim district, six acres of prospective subdivision acreage on the corner of Seventeenth and Bristol streets for 10½ acres of oranges on Orangethorpe avenue, Fullerton. The orange acreage is valued at $20,000 and the Santa Ana property is reported at a consideration approximating $30,000.

F. B. Smith of this city, is trading twenty acres of oranges west of the river at $40,000 to James I. Butterfield of Long Beach, for 275 acres at West Riverside, at a reported consideration of $65,000.

Butterfield recently acquired the Riverside ranch in an exchange of Long Beach property valued at $135,000, the ranch owner, T. J. Hopkins, paying the difference. Harris brothers also were agents in this exchange.

Dale Residence Property Is Sold

D. A. Dale and H. H. Dale have sold the residence property on the northwest corner of Sixth and Ross street to Perry Dooley, a recent arrival here from the east, it became known today. The parcel is one of the pioneer properties, the corner residence being generally known here as the Stout property. A smaller residence is located on the rear of the lot and fronts on Sixth street. It is understood the new owner will take possession on January 1.

Report Property Activities Here

According to reports at the offices of the two title companies here, a great deal of city and country property is changing hands, indicating a big demand for property here.

Reporting that they are rushed with orders for papers transferring ownership, representatives of the companies declare that indications point to greater activity before the winter is over.

It is predicted that following the Christmas holidays there will be many homeseekers reaching Orange county and that even greater activity in the realty market will result.

Picture Star in Oil Lands Deal

John M. Gunnerson and his movie star wife, Anna Q. Nilsson, are investing several thousand dollars in prospective oil land in the vicinity immediately north of Westminster, according to reports today from the little town nine miles west of Santa Ana.

Details of the prospective development of oil on property being acquired by Gunnerson, a shoe merchant of Los Angeles, and his wife, could not be ascertained.

Reports are to the effect that they have acquired several pieces of property and are negotiating for other parcels. Among the pieces reported to have been purchased is the Ewing tract of twenty-six acres, ten acres owned by Frank Turner of Stanton, and a number of lots in Westminster, purchased from T. B. Russells, a resident of Parsons, Kansas.

BEACH OIL MAN IS SERIOUSLY INJURED

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Dec. 6.—O. Keene of this city was today recovering from serious injuries received in the local oil field Monday afternoon about 3 p. m. when a three-inch "doubles" which he was unloading from a truck for the Globe Petroleum company fell and struck him.

The upper abdomen was struck forcibly and the spleen was ruptured. He was operated upon late Monday evening, and, according to attending physicians, is in a critical but favorable condition. It is thought that he will recover.

Mr. Keene resides on the highway near the Five Point grocery store. He is married and has three children.

F. W. Goettell of Costa Mesa was struck on the head by a pump rod about 9 o'clock yesterday morning. His head was cut two inches over the left eye. The pipe fell a considerable distance. He returned to work after receiving treatment at the emergency hospital.

BUILDING PLANT TO DISPOSE OF SHAVINGS

With the village cow being shunted aside and Old Dobbin slipping back because of the adoption of motor vehicles and tractors for city and farm activities, lumber yards today have become confronted with the problem of taking care of shavings and other waste materials of lumber yards and planing mills, according to O. H. Barr, president of the Barr Lumber company.

The statement was made in connection with explanation of the purpose of the construction by the lumber company at its yard of a cylindrical structure that is at present being reared skywards.

"It is an incinerator," says Barr.

And then he pointed out that the incinerator is being constructed of concrete and fire brick, sixteen feet in circumference and twenty-five feet high, with a screen smoke stack topping the burner. The burner will cost $2500, according to estimates, and will be completed within the next ten days.

Barr said that when the incinerator is completed shavings from the mill will be carried direct to it, with a continuous fire consuming the waste material.

"Disposition of shavings was not much of a problem prior to four or five years ago," said the president of the big lumber concern. "It is a problem today. The material formerly was is demand as bedding for horses and cows. The motor truck, automobiles and tractor are supplanting Old Dobbin, with the result that demand for shavings for bedding purposes has been virtually eliminated.

"And then there is the family cow—she also has 'went.' The modern dairy has taken the place of the village cow, and with the exit of the village cow also disappeared a source of demand for shavings."

Barr further added that the demand for the material now is spasmodic, with the "spasms" coming co-incident with a county fair or big circus.

Barr estimated that the lumber yard mill produces approximately 500 cubic feet of shavings per day. He said that the incinerator had been built of sufficient capacity to take care of a possible increase of 50 per cent in the waste material by a corresponding increase in the volume of business done by the mill.

With a retinue of thirty-five prelates and priests, including Cardinal Dennis Dougherty, of Philadelphia, the new bishop arrived here yesterday, preparatory to the ceremony.

The installation was to be held at St. Augustine church here, with Governor Hunt one of the speakers of the occasion. Members of the governor's staff are also in attendance.

Big Corbina Takes Hook in Ten Inches Of Water Is Report

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Dec. 6.—A twenty-one inch corbina fish caught in less than ten inches of water is the record set by a local angler yesterday morning. The angler, about to start surf fishing, looked over the edge of the pier at the water. Far up on the sand and close to the waters edge he saw the huge fish swimming about. Taking his tackle to the spot he proceeded to lure the fish onto his hook and so landed the biggest fish of the day at the pier.

Many small tom cod and several mackerel were caught yesterday from the pier. The ideal summer weather, which has been prevailing here, has been drawing large crowds of fishermen and swimmers to the beach.

Some smelt and other small fish were caught and several large game fish were sighted swimming lazily about but none were hooked.

Sleep Saves Man in Attempt to End Life

NEW YORK, Dec. 6.—The man who "went to sea to die," didn't.

George Hoerman was found asleep in his power boat on the sands off Rockaway point a few hours after coast guards had set out to head him off from his proposed journey to the great unknown.

Hoerman's family reported to the police that he had left a note saying he was going to commit suicide by sailing out to sea until death overtook him.

Sleep, however, overtook him first.

Red Cross Record Is Held By Orange Lad Aged But 30 Minutes

Some extremely young members joined the Red Cross during the roll call recently closed, as was reported from time to time, but infants of from two to four months must stand aside and let the city of Orange come forward with the record of having the youngest member.

This in effect was the sentiment expressed today by former Mayor F. L. Ainsworth of that city, now president of the National bank of Orange, who started his grandson "off right" in December, 1918.

The grandson, Ainsworth Burkett, was made a member of the Red Cross within a half hour after his birth, Ainsworth pointed out, with the declaration added that so far as he knew this record still was first in the county.

OBITUARY

George Marvin Furman was born on Laurel Hill, Wyoming County, Pennsylvania, February 4, 1866. His parents, Foster and Angeline Furman, were old-time residents of the state. He lived there until he had grown to manhood; then he went to Colorado, where in 1895 he married Sara Ferris, a daughter of another pioneer family of Wyoming county. He lived in Colorado about eleven years, then he returned to his home county in Pennsylvania.

In 1920, with his wife, he came to Santa Ana, where they since lived.

He was a painter and paper hanger by trade, but since living in California he did carpenter work when he was able to work.

No matter what he did it was well done. Whether a small task or a large one, it testified of his character. He was a quiet, reserved man, a loving husband, a staunch friend, a helpful neighbor and a faithful workman—in other words a real man.

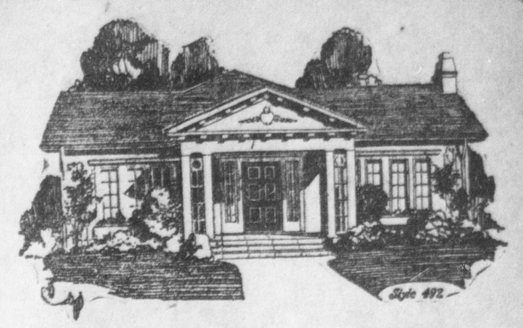

The funeral services were held at Smith and Tuthill funeral parlors Saturday morning, December 1. They were conducted by the Rev. Otto S. Russell of the First Baptist church. He was laid to rest in Fairhaven cemetery.

He leaves a wife, Mrs. Sara Furman of Santa Ana, a sister, Dora Furman of Tunkhannock, Pa., two brothers, Gratton Furman of Tunkhannock and Elmer Furman, Johnson City, N. Y.

YOU CAN'T FOOL MR. ELBERT GARY

Mr. Elbert H. Gary, head of the steel corporation, has forestalled the pessimists and the howlers. He says that business will go forward in 1924, that the wail about the depression of this coming presidential year is all "pish" and "tush." Mr. Gary knows whereof he speaks when he talks of finance, the steel business and building, which is the backbone of the steel trade.

Mr. Gary is optimistic about the whole nation, the average community. It would be hard to find a Santa Anan or a Southern Californian who will not swear that this community is above the average in progress and prosperity.

We have felt right along that our 1924 business will exceed the large volume of 1923. Furthermore, we anticipate that during the present month we will start many house jobs which will be a part of the record breaking building year of 1924.

BEACH BOY HAS GOOD CHANCE TO RECOVER

SUNSET BEACH, Dec. 6.—Slight improvement in the condition of 12-year-old Melvin Reed, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Reed of Long Beach, was noted today at the Seaside hospital in Long Beach where the lad was taken after having been shot in the head by his father in the course of a hunt for ducks here yesterday.

Physicians said young Reed had a chance for recovery.

Were In Rowboat

Leaping excitedly to his feet to point out a flying duck to his father, the lad, who was in the forward part of a rowboat in which the two were riding, was struck in the right side of the head by a charge from the shot gun which the father fired at the duck.

The boy's right ear was torn from his head and several of the shot penetrated the skull, causing injuries which will probably result in his death, according to surgeons at the Seaside hospital in Long Beach, where the injured youth was rushed by his father.

Tells of Accident

"We had been having such a wonderful time together, Melvin and I," the father sobbed, brief-stricken over the shooting of his son.

Melvin was in the forward part of the boat when a duck arose in front of us. It flew up in the air to one side of Melvin and I shot once and missed.

"Shoot Again"

"'Shoot again, dad," the boy cried. The duck by this time had crossed over and was on a line directly above Melvin's head. Just as I pulled the trigger, Melvin stood up in the boat, and then this terrible thing happened."

Mr. Reed said he and his son had gone to Sunset Beach by automobile and intended to do some early morning shooting and then return to their home.

"Mail Early" Song Taken Seriously; Forced Call Made

ANAHEIM, Dec. 6.—This "Song of the Postal Clerk," which is made up of the words "Mail Early, Mail Early," repeated over and over with appropriate expletives ad infinatum, might be carried just a little bit too far, according to Postmaster Harry Whitaker of Anaheim.

For Harry and his lusty chorus of letter-slingers have practiced this little ditty until it is becoming altogether too effective.

This was evidenced yesterday when Mrs. J. W. Wilson, 525 West Broadway, made such haste to mail her Christmas parcels that she failed to park her car in front of the office, —she just drove right on through the plate glass window of Whitaker's office.

While she was inside she mailed her parcels and then made arrangements to have the glass replaced.

ASKS CO-OPERATION FOR CLEAN STREETS

FULLERTON, Dec. 6.—At a city council meeting held on Tuesday night a protest was filed by City Engineer W. C. Record, who stated that the fast growth of the city and the many new subdivisions being put on the market made it imperative that citizens assist the street department in keeping the city neat and the streets clean. He was instructed to notify the public that trash must be put in boxes and that the alleys could not be used as a place to leave rubbish.

It was also decided at the meeting that the sentiment of Fullerton residents would be obtained before any actual steps were taken toward paving the alleys of the city. The matter of interviewing those interested was referred to the local chamber of commerce.

Decidedly keen competition marked the opening of the bids for the construction of the Fullerton section of the outfall sewer pipe line and lateral connections. L. D. Folsom, 515 South Flower street, Santa Ana, was the successful bidder for the contract for construction of the Fullerton section of the outfall sewer line, for $15,000. Stround Brothers submitted the figure of $5,500 for the construction of the outfall sewer line, which was the lowest bid.

Six constructing companies submitted bids. The others were: C. E. Green, of Los Angeles; C. W. Schruth, Glendale; Pernel Barnett, Orange; and J. K. Milesevich, Los Angeles.

GLENDALE, L. B. IN TITLE GRID CLASH

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 6.—Long Beach and Glendale Saturday will participate in probably the most important high school football game here in many years. The game will be played here at the Coliseum and big delegations will attend from both schools.

Long Beach backers declare their team is two touchdowns better than Glendale. They place their hopes on those bright lads —Morley Drury, Hill, Evans and Jones—who will perform in the backfield. Coach Schuettner of the seasiders declares that his boy Drury could make any college eleven on the coast. A strong statement, but perhaps Saturday's game will reveal a child prodigy.

The Elliott brothers, who tromped over Santa Monica like wild bulls, will be depended upon to provide the Glendale attack. Howard Elliott did a nice little day's work last Saturday when he put over three touchdowns and booted two perfect field goals and then went home and chopped wood for an hour.

After the winner of this game plays Bakersfield, Berkeley must be faced for the state championship. Long Beach players have enough confidence to declare they will be the ones who display the gridiron pennant during 1924.

CALL FOR BIDS ON ORANGE BOND ISSUE

ORANGE, Dec. 6.—Having retained sixty four bonds, totalling $64,000, from the $190,000 municipal sewer bonds, recently voted, the city council, meeting yesterday afternoon issued a call for bids on the remaining part of the issue.

The date when sealed proposals will be received on the issue was fixed for Tuesday, December 18, at one o'clock in the council chambers.

Originally, the issue comprised 190 bonds, each for $1,000, but, at a recent meeting, bids were opened on part of the issue, 136 bonds being sold to a Los Angeles bonding house.

Funds from the sale of these bonds have been received and placed in a local bank, where they are drawn upon from time to time as payments fall due on the inter-city outfall sewer to the ocean, now nearing completion.

Sale of the remaining bonds will provide funds for the construction of Orange's independent sewer line from the present septic tanks to a point where it will intersect with the Anaheim-Fullerton line near Garden Grove.

Work on the project is expected to start this spring, following the rainy season.

Take Laxative BROMO QUININE Tablets. The box bears the signature of E. W. Grove. 30c.

WATER BOND ISSUE PLANS ARE PUSHED

ORANGE, Dec. 6.—Passing a resolution of intention, indicating that the matter will be pushed forward with all possible haste, the city council yesterday paved the way for calling a $40,000 bond election, providing enlargements to the municipal water plant.

The resolution, declaring the council's intention to go ahead with the bond vote, was adopted without a dissenting vote.

While the date of the proposed election has not been fixed, it is understood that the council will accelerate preliminary details so that the vote may be held during the forepart of January, thus making the funds available for work early in the spring.

The enlargement program covered in the bond election calls for a million gallon reservoir, a new 125 horsepower internal combustion engine, two one thousand gallon pumps, more than 10,000 feet of cast iron water mains and twelve additional fire hydrants, taking care of the remarkable growth of the city, especially through the increasing subdivision development.

Save That Roof

Free Sample Shows How

Don't tear off the old roof—coat it with Rooftight. No matter if it leaks in a hundred places, Rooftight will make it sound and tight —your roof will be as good and last as long, and look as well as a new roof. Why go to a lot of needless expense when a few dollars invested in Rooftight will do the trick?

Rooftight is made especially for old leaky, weather-beaten roofs—made by people who know their business. It is a liquid asbestos fibre cement, mixed in the right proportions and it will make your old roof good as new—that is what it's for.

Rooftight spreads like common paint—anyone can put it on. It requires no heating and it fills every crack and crevice and stops all leaks. Rooftight is used on all kinds of roofs—shingles, tin, paper and composition.

ROOFTIGHT is durable in the extreme and will not warp, crack, peel or wash off. Sun, rain or fog have no effect upon it. It will withstand All the elements with which a paint must contend and costs only a few cents per square for many more years life for your roof. It is unlike any roof paint you have ever used.

Send this notice with your name and address to the United Paint Co., 823-24 Loew's State Bldg., Los Angeles, Calif., and they will send you full particulars, also a liberal sample can of Rooftight to show you what a great roof fixer it is—ALL FREE.

WILL ORGANIZE MEN IN SCOUT WORK HERE

Organization of men active in Boy Scout along similar lines followed by the boys' troops, to hold monthly meetings, the first of which will be Monday night of next week, was announced today by Roland E. Dye, local Scout executive. In a statement Dye outlined the new program as follows:

"The new organization will be in the line of organizing the men of the community, just as the boys of a troop are organized, holding monthly meetings. The scoutmasters and troop committeemen of each district will be organized as a patrol, under the leadership of the deputy commissioner, who will act as patrol leader. The troop which will be composed of all the scoutmasters and troop committeemen of the county will be under the leadership of the county scout executive, who will serve in the capacity of scoutmaster.

"The first meeting, which will be called for organizing and training purposes is scheduled to be held at Santa Ana in the Masonic Log Cabin Monday evening. Meetings in other districts are scheduled for later dates.

"New scoutmasters in this county who have recently been selected and are now taking charge of their troops are Ray Atkinson, Troop 9, Santa Ana; W. F. Palmer, Troop 4, Santa Ana; J. Brinton Hale, Troop 1, Garden Grove; Oliver Marriott, Troop 1, Tustin; Guy H. Benton, Troop 1, Yorba Linda, and Raymond Eastman, Troop 1, Costa Mesa.

"Assistant scoutmasters who have been selected are C. H. Black, Troop 10, Santa Ana, and Vollmer H. Clark, Troop 3, Santa Ana. A number of new scoutmasters and assistant scoutmasters will be secured during the next few weeks.

"The citizens of Brea were raising their quota of $300 for the county budget last week, under the direction of A. V. Sullivan. A final report is expected on the campaign conducted in Brea Tuesday evening. Huntington Beach citizens, under the direction of R. J. Prescott, chairman of the troop committee, will conduct a campaign for their quota of $500 during the week of December 10.

'GOOD SAMARITAN' WON'T REPEAT ACT

ANAHEIM, Dec. 6.—Otto Lowenstein of Anaheim, while he spends the next few days in bed, will probably spend most of the time trying to decide if it's best to assist a fellow who is in trouble.

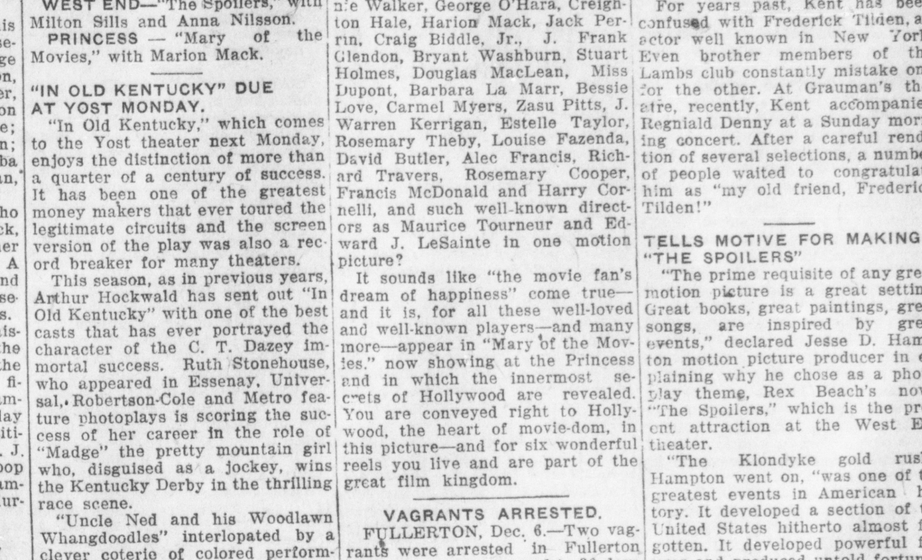

Lowenstein, accompanied by Miss Helen Lentz and Mrs. Frieda Busch, of Anaheim, was moroting to Long Beach last night when another car bumped into the rear of his machine and turned over. Loewenstein got out of his car to assist the passengers of the wrecked machine, and as he did so another car knocked him to the pavement and bruised him severely.

Meanwhile the wrecked car was righted and proceeded under its own power, and the Anaheim man was unable to get the names of any of the people who figured in the traffic tangle.

He will probably be up within a week, doctors report.

"IN OLD KENTUCKY" DUE AT YOST MONDAY.

"In Old Kentucky," which comes to the Yost theater next Monday, enjoys the distinction of more than a quarter of a century of success. It has been one of the greatest money makers that ever toured the legitimate circuits and the screen version of the play was also a record breaker for many theaters.

This season, as in previous years, Arthur Hockwald has sent out "In Old Kentucky" with one of the best casts that has ever portrayed the character of the C. T. Dazey immortal success. Ruth Stonehouse, who appeared in Essenay, Universal, Robertson-Cole and Metro feature photoplays is scoring the success of her career in the role of "Madge" the pretty mountain girl who, disguised as a jockey, wins the Kentucky Derby in the thrilling race scene.

"Uncle Ned and his Woodlawn Whangdoodles" interlopated by a clever coterie of colored performers, furnish tuneful melodies and buck and wing dancing that always keep the audience keyed to a pitch of intense interest.

A street parade at noon and bond concert by Prof. Arthur Wright and his serenaders, always creates interest and stimulates the sale of tickets for the play. However, in many cities the theater is usually sold out for the performances, before the arrival of the company, demonstrating that the interest "In Old Kentucky" is even greater than in former years.

SCORE OF FILM STARS SEEN IN PRINCESS PICTURE

Warren Kerrigan, Estelle Taylor, Rosemary Theby, Louise Fazenda, David Butler, Alec Francis, Richard Travers, Rosemary Cooper, Francis McDonald and Harry Cornelli, and such well-known directors as Maurice Tourneur and Edward J. "MOTHERS-IN-LAW" SHOWING AT YOST

Have you a double? Are you called to account for the sins of another?

Crauford Kent, playing a leading role in the production, "Mothers-in-Law," now at the Yost theater, faces this predicament, but with this advantage—his double is a perfectly behaved friend.

For years past, Kent has been confused with Frederick Tilden, an actor well known in New York. Even brother members of the Lambs club constantly mistake one for the other. At Grauman's theatre, recently, Kent accompanied Regniald Denny at a Sunday morning concert. After a careful rendition of several selections, a number of people waited to congratulate him as "my old friend, Frederick Tilden!"

TELLS MOTIVE FOR MAKING "THE SPOILERS"

"The prime requisite of any great motion picture is a great setting. Great books, great paintings, great songs, are inspired by great events," declared Jesse D. Hampton motion picture producer in explaining why he chose as a photoplay theme, Rex Beach's novel "The Spoilers," which is the present attraction at the West End theater.

"The Klondyke gold rush," Hampton went on, "was one of the greatest events in American history. It developed a section of the United States hitherto almost forgotten. It developed powerful figures and produced untold fortunes. Thus it is logical that the event should bring forth one of the most powerful stories in American literature 'The Spoilers.'

"Rex Beach's novel is one of the best written in recent years. It is based on an historical incident and it portrays as does no other work, the great Alaskan gold rush. Furthermore it did more than any other thing to stop the political 'spoilers' from wresting the rich gold mines from their rightful owners. 'The Spoilers' was Rex Beach's first and most successful novel and it deserves a picture where modern day equipment, technique and photography can do it justice."

ELKS TO BRING SANTA CLAUS DECEMBER 22

Saturday, December 22, will be a day of joy for hundreds of Santa Ana kiddies.

That's when Santa Claus, working with about thirty or forty of his pals up at the Elks club, is going to appear in Birch park and distribute good cheer right and left.

"Of course, that's a trifle early for Santa Claus to get around," said Secretary W. W. Wasser, Santa Ana lodge No. 794, "but, you see, he's pretty busy this year, as there are thousands of boys and girls to be called upon.

"Therefore, our advance notices from Kriss Kringle are to the effact that we better get ready to help him do his stuff here in Santa Ana Saturday, December 22.

"We suggested to Santa Claus that we give a big party for him in Birch park at 1 p. m. This suited him fine, so we have arranged for a Punch and Judy show, which will last twenty or thirty minutes, which Santa Claus will enjoy as well as the children themselves.

"Then, with the assistance of a big gang of Elks—and we will need about thirty or forty men—we will get busy and help Santa Claus hand out toys, candy, dolls, apples and other good things for fully 2,500 boys and girls of this city. Last year Santa Claus brought toys for 1,800 boys and girls, but that will not be enough this year. We've a lot more boys and girls to visit this year."

Dr. V. A. Rossiter, first aide to Santa Claus, is helping Secretary Wasser make arrangements for the big party in Birch park. Funds raised by "The King of Kokomo," an amusing gentleman from Indiana, will help defray Santa's expenses.

SENSATIONAL ARTIST AT ANAHEIM TONIGHT

The coming of Leo Ornstein, genius of the piano, to the Anaheim high school tonight, marks one of the most important events of its kind ever held in the history of Orange county, local musicians declared today.

Ornstein has had focused upon him the attention of all interested in the most radical developments of music and as such has created a stir, it was pointed out. At the same time, the opinion has been unanimous that his playing is highly poetic. He is one of the most unique figures in the musical world today, a very young man, and yet regarded as one of the foremost exponents of the new direc-

THIS MOTHER-IN-LAW saved her boy and her boy's wife from the greatest sorrow of all.

How she did it makes one of the finest stories of the year.

There is laughter and tears and perhaps a lesson for wives who forget their marriage vows.

The cutest baby you ever saw helps the tale along.

It's the kind of a picture that you'll recommend to your friends.

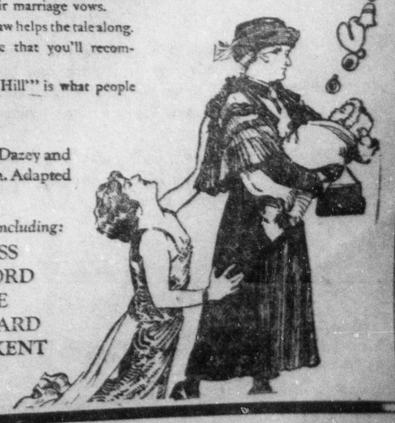

"As good as 'Over The Hill'" is what people have said about it.

Come and see it!

COOLIDGE IS FAVORITE AT BEACH CLUB

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Dec. 6.—If the straw vote for President of the United States, taken by the local Women's club has any bearing on the coming election campaign President Calvin Coolidge will retain his place at the White House.

Ford and McAdoo Tie

According to the official count taken at the meeting President Coolidge totaled 11 votes. Henry Ford tied for second place with William McAdoo with four votes each. Hiram Johnson was conceded two votes by the women and Herbert Hoover received one vote.

Many of the women of the club arrived after the ballot had been taken and counted and did not get to vote, it was said by Mrs. H. Larter, president of the club.

The results of the ballot were sent to an eastern magazine for publication. After a short business meeting the women adjourned to the high school where a delightful program was furnished them.

"Joint Owners in Spain," was the name of the one-act play given by the high school students for the club. The scene of the play was set in an old women's home and some very touching scenes were handled in a very creditable manner by the cast. Misses Lynette Robb, Merle Moore, Ethel Bartholomew and Sarah Howard took the roles.

Piano solos, and solo dances given by members of the high school student body enlivened the program and another one-act play entitled, "Playing With Fire," was given by several of the students. Miss Annina Doyle, dramatic teacher of the school, was in charge of the plays.

The Boy Scouts and the local Camp Fire Girls are to provide the program for the next meeting of the Woman's club.

TICKETS GO FAST FOR SCOUT AFFAIR

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Dec. 6.—Local Boy Scouts reported that the 500 tickets allotted them to sell for the Boy Scout Benefit here Friday night were sold.

TRY OUT FIRE ALARM

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Dec. 6.—Members of the volunteer fire department came running to the fire station about 11 o'clock yesterday morning when the local electric men tried out the fire siren after installing a meter on the machine. Of course there was nothing for the volunteers to do but return to their businesses. Many of them were really disappointed because they were denied the excitement of a fire.

Men Very Careless With Valuables Is Dry Cleaners Word

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Dec. 6—According to J. Swartz, proprietor of one of the local dry cleaning establishments, men are very careless with their money and valuables.

If some of the men who bring their clothes to Mr. Swartz to be cleaned, had wives of the fabled light fingered order, who are so popular in comical sections and movies, for their delight in going through their husband's pockets, Swartz would not have found some of the valuables carelessly left in the trousers pockets, he said.

The amount of money a person may possess does not seem to make any difference in the carefulness claims Swartz. He recently found and returned $65 in the pocket of a suit, and he also returned a $5 bill to a patron.

LEGION AUXILIARY WILL MEET FRIDAY

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Dec. 6.—The American Legion Auxiliary will hold their regular meeting at the home of Mrs. Ray Walker Friday evening, it was announced today.

Officers of the past year deserve much commendation for the creditable manner in which they have handled the fortunes of the local post, declared Mrs. H. Larter. The campaign for the coming year has not been mapped out as fully as the program of the American Legion but it is thought that the women of the Auxiliary will have their hands full helping the Legion boys put over the Armistice Day celebration here next year.

HEY! SKINNAY! C'MON OVER: LET'S PLAY

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Dec. 6.—"It looks like an ant hill," said the reporter upon viewing the school yard here soon after the last bell had rung in the afternoon, recently.

The reporter referred to about 200 small human beings busily engaged in crawling about on the ground. Closer investigation revealed the fact that members of the student body of the local grammar school are great marble players.

Of course there must be a champion.

"Who is the champion?" queried the inquisitive reporter. Various answers met his question. One claimed his friend to be champion, another would protest and say his friends could outshoot the other.

As a result of the heated competition worked up among the marble shooters of the school it is quite probable, it is said, that a tournament may be held in the near future to settle the question once and for all.

Stanley Champion, is claimed to be the best in the school at the present time and if voting were to be counted on he would probably be the champion. However, Master Stanley will have his hands full, it is claimed, with one Kenneth Gunn and several others. Another lad which has shown much promise in the game is a Japanese boy, Masu Kota.

It is said that the little Japanese boy can knock them right and left out of the ring. The boys congregate on the school ground across the drive from the new building and play every evening for a couple of hours. To one not used to the game, the knack of knocking the small articles out of a large circle from a distance of about three or four feet in a quite offhand manner is rather impressive, to say the least.

SOUND WARNING ON CHRISTMAS PACKAGES

"Mail early; wrap securely; address plainly."

While this is December 6 and Christmas nineteen days' journey, officials of the Santa Ana post office have begun an educational campaign among its patrons.

"The advice is first class advice any day of the year," said Postmaster T. E. Stephenson, "but it is particularly applicable to the period before Christmas. If there is any time when anyone sending packages, or any other kind of mail, should mail early it is from December 6 to December 25. By 'early' I mean mailing so that there will be no close figuring. If it ordinarily takes three days to reach a given place, why not give your package the advantage of two, three or half a dozen days?

Wrapping Essential.

"Let us consider this matter of wrapping securely. Can you expect a package that is wrapped in thin paper and tied with a piece of thread to find its way from one office to another?

"If the package is worth sending at all it is worth giving a safeguard. It ought to have a chance to get through in proper shape. Strong wrapping paper, or pasteboard boxes or wooden boxes, according to the article shipped, should be selected. When cord is used, it should be strong and tied securely.

"The address is of supreme importance. Do you know that several dozen letters are mailed in Santa Ana every week addressed in a way that on the face they show error. We get letters addressed to some number 'South Spring street, Santa Ana,' or 'North Glassell street, Santa Ana,' 'K street, Santa Ana.' There are forty or more cities in California that have a K street, but Santa Ana has none.

Address Important.

"And by all means, if you want your letters, cards and packages delivered promptly use the street number. When a letter comes to our office addressed merely to 'Mrs. John Jones, Santa Ana,' that letter is almost surely sent into our directory room. When the directory clerk gets the other letters looked up, the proper address of Mrs. John Jones will be found. In the meantime, the delivery of the letter has been delayed. Whose fault is it?"

Frank Cannon, in charge of the stamp window at the Santa Ana office, declared today that Christmas has commenced.

"It's here," said he, "for we are mailing out Christmas packages to Eastern states. These packages are marked 'do not open until Christmas.'"

At the post office information for Christmas shoppers was briefed as follows:

Data Is Listed.

Maximum weight of parcel post packages—Within approximately a radius of 150 miles, 70 pounds; further than 150 miles, 50 pounds.

Parcels weighing more than four ounces cannot be mailed in street boxes.

Christmas stickers must not be placed on the address side of the parcel. They may be placed on other portions of the parcel, but must not seal the package.

Special delivery service for a parcel can be secured by affixing a 10-cent special delivery stamp or 10 cents worth of other stamps, with the words "special delivery" written on the parcel.

All valuable domestic parcel post mail should be insured. The fees are: Value not more than $5, 3 cents; from $5 to $25, 5 cents from $25 to $50, 10 cents; from $50 to $100, 25 cents.

16 Gas Meters Are Installed at Beach

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Dec. 6.—Sixteen gas meters were installed during the first four days of December making an average of four meters per day. During the first four days of November only seven meters were connected.

With the start of the month so favorable it is the opinion of the gas department officials that a banner month is here.

Mrs. Emma Reichart, 217 Third street; R. Ruse, 707 Alabama street; B. H. Hinchie, 105 Seventh street; A. L. McClanahan, 120½ Ninth street; W. L. Enoch, 1019 Walnut street; G. Leyerly, 221½ Frankfort street; V. U. Kummel, 1715 Walnut avenue; R. E. Miviatovich, 115 Sixteenth street; R. A. Hollis, corner of Seventeenth and Delaware streets; N. J. Tetters, 527 Lake street.

SCHOOL HOLIDAYS TO START DEC. 21

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Dec. 6.—Christmas vacation will start December 21 and will end January 2, for the children of the local grammar school, according to announcement made today by Principal Clark H. Reid.

Nothing definite has been worked out for the Christmas vacation up to the present time, it is said.

Work on the new $250,000 grammar school building is progressing nicely. The structure, two stories in height, is now nearly complete, although considerable interior work is yet to be done. The exterior of the building is practically completed.

Men are now at work installing the heating and ventilating systems in the building. Plasterers are also hard at work in the various rooms. Many of the rooms are plastered and the painters are at work while there are also a number of rooms yet to be plastered.

An inspection tour of the building lead the writer to believe that the building will not be completed by Jan. 1. The lower and upper halls and several of the rooms are yet to be plastered. The rooms are at present covered with the special fire proof plaster board which is one of the many features of the building.

It is thought that some of the rooms may be in readiness so that they may be used until the building is completed should the necessity arise to use them before the first of the year.

SUBDIVISION OF OCEAN IS NOT ALLOWED

Attorney General Rules In Case Arising Out of Tide Land Dispute

CHICAGO, Dec. 6. — The Pacific ocean cannot be subdivided into lots, the Attorney-General of California has ruled, according to information received here by the National Association of Real Estate Boards.

The ocean, according to the reports, rolled in a new strip of coast land at Newport, Orange county, and enterprising real estate men began plans for lots along the shore line.

But only the sovereign State of California may subdivide the Pacific shore, the Attorney-General is said to hold.

BALBOA, Dec. 6.—The item above has to do with an opinion rendered by Attorney General Webb on eight acres of made land lying at the eastern end of the peninsula below Balboa, and which he held to be tide lands. This land was made, it is said, by Orange county at the time the county was dredging out the bay under the direction of the Harbor commission.

The opinion held that land created from material or other deposits, and when such deposits or accretions are made through the acts of public officials, that such lands revert to the state. In the present instance dredger material was deposited on the ocean side of the jetty, thus forming more acreage.

The opinion also held that where land was made through natural accretion, due to the erosion of time and elements, that such land reverted to the individual whose land was adjacent to such accretion. The attorney general's opinion traced land ownership back to the early days of England, when crown lands were in dispute, and is based on decisions of four and five centuries ago.

Tide land titles in the bay district of Orange county have been discussed for some time, but it should be known that title to lands held by old timers in the harbor district do not come under the defination of lands mentioned by the attorney general. Nearly all of the lands come down to their present owners through patents given either by the state or government and cannot be disputed, it is said by persons who are familiar with such matters.

LAGUNA P.-T. A. TO MEET ON FRIDAY

LAGUNA BEACH, Dec. 6.—The regular monthly meeting of the Parent-Teachers' association of the Laguna Beach school will be held Friday and will take the form of a reception to the new teachers and a recital by the piano pupils of Mrs. Violet Case and the violin pupils of Miss Josephine Hills. It is intended at this meeting to build a closer tie between the parents of the pupils of the school and the teachers who have taken up the work here this year. Fathers of the children and interested folk of the community are being urged to attend as the recital in itself is an item of interest to the parents.

J. W. Rankin and son, James Victor, are spending two weeks at Palm Springs as a recuperation from the summer season at the beach.

At the weekly Monday night bridge game of the Community club the scores of the month were added and the prizes were found to go to Mrs. Tom Sayles and Royal Sylvia. Since hosts are appointed for each Monday and refreshments are served at the finish of the usual four games prizes are given for the highest scores based on a month's play. Handicaps on the players who formerly won prizes are to be removed at the end of this month, giving those who worked under a handicap of one thousand a chance to again compete with the less fortunate players.

Mrs. A. W. Harper has been a visitor with her sister, Miss Annie Gayne Peake for the past week. Mrs. Harper came out from Chicago to spend a few days with Miss Peake, whom she has not seen for about seven years.

Anaheim Hoop Team Nearer County Flag

ANAHEIM UNION HIGH SCHOOL, Dec. 6.—The basketball girls of the Anaheim Union High school moved another step nearer the third consecutive county championship yesterday by defeating the fast Orange team by a score of 13 to 8 on the local court.

Although the teams were evenly matched, Anaheim had the edge in basket-shooting. Evelyn Cordes, Anaheim forward, led the home team in scoring with seven points. The local aggregation was strengthened by the return of Captain Irma Young, guard, who had been unable to play on account of injuries sustained in the opening game of the schedule at Santa Ana.

This game was considered especially important, since Anaheim and Orange seemed the logical contenders for the county title. Orange had defeated Huntington Beach, Garden Grove and Tustin, while Anaheim had won over Santa Ana, Fullerton and Huntington Beach. Anaheim plays Tustin to morrow and will invade Garden Grove for the final game of the season next Tuesday.

The lineups for the game were as follows:

Anaheim

The class was organized in response to the demand of many Fullerton mothers and the interest was so great that it was necessary to limit the enrollment.

Classes in millinery and dressmaking, recently organized, are so large that additional sections have become necessary. These classes meet from 9:30 to 11:30 o'clock and from 3 to 5 o'clock on Mondays, and the pupils are busily engaged in making Christmas gifts.

LAGUNA PEOPLE PULLING FOR MORE LIGHT

Chamber of Commerce to Push Petition to Railroad Board

LAGUNA BEACH, Dec. 6.—At a called meeting of the Chamber of Commerce of Laguna Beach, held Wednesday noon in the Hazel Cafe, a general discussion was engaged in concerning measures to be taken to put through the rejected petition for a lighting district. Sentiment that verged on disgust seemed to predominate the meeting and suggestions coming from several members favored leaving the protesting district out of future improvement plans.

Forty Names Defeated It.

At the time when the petition was filed with the Board of Supervisors it was understood that a majority of fifty-one property owners were required to have a petition denied; but it later developed that that law pertains to matters within the jurisdiction of the Railroad Commission and not the Board of Supervisors. Forty residents of Arch Beach signed the opposing petition and this number was sufficient to defeat the issue.

At the meeting yesterday a decision was reached that comprised the repetitioning the board on the same matter with the exception that Arch Beach would not be included in the preliminary plans. It was also stated that if, at any future date the Arch Beach property holders decided that lights were essential to that district, an added expense would naturally fall to them when it came to connecting up with the main line.

Plan Sewer System.

Members of the Sanitary Board present said that they had an engineer at work on the plans for a sewer system to comprehend the flats of the town, the Cliffs and a section of the McKnight addition. This work has been pronounced necessary before the influx of summer residents and will comprise a new sanitary district to cover the property called for in the plans. Joe Skidmore was asked for his opinion of the feasibility of a salt water system and in a very comprehensive statement Mr. Skidmore was understood to favor that plan emphatically. He said that the practice of this system on the eastern coast and on this coast in towns that did not wish to encounter a water shortage proved beyond doubt that the system was practical and a decided measure for the conservation of water. With the approval of all the members it was agreed to have a plan made by the engineer now on the proposition and decided definitely upon the advisability of such a step. With the Chamber of Commerce stamp of approval put upon the recently organized base ball club of the town to the extent of ordering the uniforms to come from that body, the meeting was adjourned, subject to call of the president.

ANAHEIM, Dec. 6. — Rapid growth of Anaheim during the past few months is indicated in the report of Supt. C. C. Smith of the Anaheim Grammar School district which shows that since October 15 school enrollment has increased more than 8 per cent. The present total enrollment is 1752, Mr. Smith pointed out, as compared with a daily attendance of 1253 at this time last year.

So rapid has been the increase in enrollment that every school room in the district is taxed to capacity. An eight-room addition to the Intermediate school during the summer months was considered sufficient to take care of the new pupols, but in spite of this half-day sessions are threatened in several of the buildings.

Anaheim recently voted $110,000 bonds to erect a new ward school building, and board members expect to purchase a site early next week and start immediate construction in order to have the extra class rooms in time for the opening of school next fall.

However, at the present rate of increase, this relief will be only temporary and still other buildings will have to be added to the system.

DECIDE VACATION DATES

FULLERTON, Dec. 6.—At a meeting of the high school faculty Monday night December 22 was decided upon as the day when the Christmas vacation would start. It will last until after January 1. Considerable attention was given by the faculty to a merit system of recognizing student citizenship. Dinner was served to the faculty members in the high school cafeteria.

PRINCIPALS TO MEET

ANAHEIM, Dec. 6.—The first meeting of the Orange County Grammar School Principals' association of this year will be held at Fullerton on December 13, according to an announcement made yesterday by C. C. Smith, secretary of the association and superintendent of the Anaheim grammar schools. These meetings are scheduled to be held every month, but due to the large amount of organization work in the county schools at the first of this term, a session of the principals was impossible. Every grammar school in the county will be represented at the Fullerton meeting, it was said.

WALL ST. JOURNAL FINANCIAL REVIEW

NEW YORK, Dec. 6.—Wall Street's reaction to President Coolidge's first message to congress was a great feeling of relief over the favorable auspices under which the new session was opened. Since the law making body departed from Washington last spring apprehension has been entertained in the financial community regarding the possibility of the successful introduction of radical legislation when the sixty eighth congress came into being.

President Coolidge's practical repudiation of the bonus and his broadly constructive policy regarding the railroads efectively dissipated fears in this regard. Stocks mirrored the sweepingly bullish character of the President's attitude in one of the broadest and most buoyant markets of the year, save for a slight setback just immediately after the message was out.

The rails were featured in the bullish demonstration but virtually every section of the list participated and the closing prices were at the highest levels of the current upswing.

All reactionary tendencies were swept aside in the final hour and the day closed with a burst of strength. The rais were ed by New York Centra and Batimore and Ohio which reached new high ground for the present advance. While the motors continued the strongest group of the industrial class Chandler spurted to 62 against Wednesday's low of 54 5-8.

The market closed higher.

TALBERT

TALBERT, Dec. 6.—The Japanese hall has recently been purchased by the school district was moved Friday from its location onto the ground adjoining the Fountain Valley school on the north which was recently purchased from Rev. Wardlow. Talbert intends to put a dwelling house on the former hall location which is on his land. The hall, which was built fifteen or more years ago by the Japanese population which at that time was extensive was a social center for members of their race for all the intervening years while the greater part of the land hereabout was being cultivated by them. Since the migration of the majority of Japanese to other parts the hall has been used but little until the influx of children into the community made class room space at a premium in the school, then the hall was rented as a school room and one room has been maintained there during this term, and the moving of the building during the Thanksgiving vacation period allowed school to continue uninterrupted in the new location Monday.

The J. O. Harper home was the scene of a Thanksgiving reunion, every member being present for the pleasant occasion. A sumptuous dinner including in the menu an eighteen pound turkey and old fashioned plum pudding was thoroughly enjoyed by the party which included Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Harper, their sons, Robert Harper, wife and little daughter, Marjorie; Frank Harper and wife, Harry Harper, wife and small son, Jack, Donald Harper and their daughter, Miss Ruth Harper and brother-in-law, Frank Pierce.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Carter, the former's mother, Mrs. Betty Carter of Long Beach and Rev. and Mrs. B. E. Glazner of Santa Ana were Thursday callers at the S. E. Talbert home.

Mr. and Mrs. Page were hosts at a family reunion Thanksgiving day. The families of Mr. and Mrs. Will Shaw and Mrs. Alice Chandler of this place were among those present.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Harper of this place in company with Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Walker and daughter, Maybelle, of Greenville and Mrs. Walker of Tustin saw "The Covered Wagon" at Grauman's Egyptian theater at Hollywood Sunday.

A large crowd congregated Sunday at the opening of the land sale of the Ashby Turner tract last Sunday.

A barbecue at noon was an attraction of the day and an abundance of tempting edibles were served together with the barbecued steaks.

Races, trick riding and a band furnished further entertainment.

One house is already being built on the tract. The installation of the water system was completed last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Clark Burley have built a garage the past week to house th new Ford which they have purchased. Mr. Burley has just returned from Monterey, Calif., where he has spent the past two years.

Mrs. Mary Bushard has returned to her home in Los Angeles following the Thanksgiving vacation which she spent at Talbert at the homes of her sons, George and William Bushard.

Mr. and Mrs. John Shutt Jr. entertained over Thanksgiving Mrs. Shutt's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Will Heald of Los Angeles and her sister, Miss Flossie Draper the latter of whom remained over Sunday, returning to Los Angeles where she attends a girls' private school.

Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Hoeptner entertained at family dinner Thanksgiving with Mr. Hoeptner's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Hoeptner, brothers Lincoln and Itle and sisters the Misses Hazle and Irene, of Compton; Mrs. Hoeptner's mother of Pasadena and Mr. and Mrs. Cawkins, Miss Green and Archie Redd of Los Angeles, friends of the family as their guests. All returned to their homes Thanksgiving night with the exception of Mrs. Scott, who remained over Sunday as a house guest at the Hoeptner home.

Mrs. Tinker and son, Clifford Bartol and George Bartol and Mr. Conlon were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Asa Hadley of Smeltzer.

Mr. and Mrs. Koontz of La Habra formerly of Talbert, were at their ranch here Monday where Mrs. Koontz was doing some remodeling on the house. Mrs. Koontz called on several old neighbors while here

TURKEYS PLENTIFUL ON S. F. MARKETS

(By United Press Leased Wire)

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 6.—Receipts of dressed poultry showed a slight increase today over the past few days, but the general tone of the poultry market was lower. Turkeys continued weak.

Shortage of grapes boosted the price in that commodity today, with the market as whole enjoying a better tone. Heavy supplies of small oranges caused a break in that fruit. Navels shared the feeling and moved slowly.

Few changes were noted in the price of vegetables. The tomato market continued to fluctuate, however, and local stock sold from 50 cents to one dollar per lug. Quality of both local and San Diego is below par. Potatoes remained steady with moderate demand and movement.

Receipts amounted to six cars oranges, two lemons, two grapes, two bananas (Louisiana); three of California apples, one lettuce, one California potatoes, two Washington, four daho and two Oregon.

Drainage Bond Suit Filed As Formality

The formality of insuring the legality of a $160,000 bond issue voted September 17 by the Newhope drainage district had been undertaken by that district today, in the form of an action filed in the superior court here against "all persons interested in the bonds."

The court was asked to declare proceedings under which the district was formed and the bonds voted as correct and legal and to also declare the bonds to be valid.

The district and its trustees, E. R. Stillens, J. W. Martin and B. F. Crutchfield, were represented by the legal firm of Head, Rutan and Scovel.

Two Autoists Slightly Hurt As Car Overturns

J. C. Chammis of Orange and Del Wolf of Los Angeles were at their homes today, recovering from slight injuries incurred when the automobile in which they were riding overturned here at 2 a. m.

Long Beach motorists rescued the pair from beneath their machine, at the Pacific Electric crossing on Fifth street, and took them to the police station. Both were released this morning from hospitals to which they had been taken.

Police here had not determined the cause for the accident.

Rum For Christmas Drinkers Taken In Spectacular Raid

(By United Press Leased Wire)

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 5.— The first "liquor laboratory" ever discovered in Los Angeles was in the hands of police today.

Hundreds of varied shaped bottles and colored foreign seals and labels were confiscated. The approximate value of the confiscated goods is $15,000.

The equipment was packed in expensive baskets, tinsel paper and rolls of silk ribbon, giving every indication of preparation for the increasing demand for Christmas trade.

A mysterious "tip" enabled the operators to escape a few minutes before the detectives crashed in the rear door of the establishment.

PRICES IRREGULAR ON CHICAGO BOARD

(By United Press Leased Wire)

CHICAGO, Dec. 6.—Grain prices closed irregular on the Chicago board of trade today. Wheat and oats were lower. Corn was unchanged to fractionally higher. Wheat underwent a series or rallies during the last hour of trading.

Failure of President Coolidge to recommend means for immediate disposal of surplus stocks caused a sharp setback but advices from Buenos Aires at the close caused a quick recuperation from the low point of the day.

Corn rallied with wheat after profit takers had left the market. Working or corn for export from Minneapolis and Chicago via Baltimore and the purchase of large parcels or corn in Minneapolis by Peoria, Ill., interests were the strengthening factors.

Oats rallied with other grains and gained some of its lost ground.

Provisions closed strong.

Simple? Yes.

We sometimes find folks with the idea that investment in the Building and Loan Association is something peculiarly different—complicated.

It's all wrong—there's nothing more simple.

Certainly it's just as simple as opening your bank account—and you probably never thought of that as anything strange or complicated.

We have three or four different kinds of accounts, of course, to meet different conditions or requirements.

But they're all simple—plain—easy to understand.

If YOU have thought investment in the Building and Loan to be complicated or difficult, come in and talk it over with us.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE TO SIXTY-EIGHTH CONGRESS

COOLIDGE ASKS CUT IN TAXES, HITS BONUS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—President Coolidge's message to the sixty-eighth congress follows in full:

Since the close of the last congress the nation has lost President Harding. The world knew his kindness and his humanity, his greatness and his character. He has left his mark upon history. He has made justice more certain and peace more secure. The surpassing tribute paid to his memory as he was borne across the continent to rest at last at home revealed the place he held in the hearts of the American people. But this is not the occasion for extended reference to the man or his work. In this presence, among those who knew and loved him, that is unnecessary. But we who were associated with him could not resume together the functions of our office without pausing for a moment, and in his memory reconsecrating ourselves to the service of our country. He is gone. We remain. It is our duty, under the inspiration of his example, to take up the burdens which he was permitted to lay down, and to develop and support the wise principles of government which he represented.

FOREIGN AFFAIRS

For us peace reigns everywhere. We desire to perpetuate it always by granting full justice to others and requiring of others full justice to ourselves.

Our country has one cardinal principle to maintain in its foreign policy. It is an American principle. It must be an American policy. We attend to our own affairs, conserve our strength, and protect the interests of our citizens; but we recognize thoroughly our obligation to help others, reserving to the decision of our own judgment the time, the place, and the method. We realize the common bond of humanity. We know the inescapable law of service.

Our country has definitely refused to adopt and ratify the covenant of the League of Nations. We have not felt warranted in assuming the responsibilities which its members have assumed. I am not proposing any change in this policy; neither is the senate. The incident, so far as we are concerned, is closed. The league exists as a foreign agency. We hope it will be helpful. But the United States sees no reason to limit its own freedom and independence of action by joining it. We shall do well to recognize this basic fact in all national affairs and govern ourselves accordingly.

WORLD COURT

Our foreign policy has always been guided by two principles. The one is the avoidance of permanent political alliances which would sacrifice our proper independence. The other is the peaceful settlement of controversies between nations. By example and by treaty we have advocated arbitration. For nearly twenty-five years we have been a member of The Hague Tribunal, and have long sought the creation of a permanent World Court of Justice. I am in full accord with both of these policies. I favor the establishment of such a court intended to include the whole world. That is, and has long been, an American policy.

Pending before the Senate is a proposal that this government give its support to the Permanent Court of International Justice, which is a new and somewhat different plan. This is not a partisan question. It should not assume an artificial importance. The court is merely a convenient instrument of adjustment to which we could go, but to which we could not be brought. It should be discussed with entire candor, not by a political but by a judicial method, without pressure and without prejudice. Partisanship has no place in our foreign relations. As I wish to see a court established, and as the proposal presents the only practical plan on which many nations have ever agreed, though it may not meet every desire, I therefore commend it to the favorable consideration of the senate, with the proposed reservations clearly indicating our refusal to adhere to the League of Nations.

RUSSIA

Our diplomatic relations, lately so largely interrupted, are now being resumed, but Russia presents notable difficulties. We have every desire to see that great people, who are our traditional friends, restored to their position among the nations of the earth. We have relieved their pitiable destitution with an enormous charity. Our government offers no objection to the carrying on of commerce by our citizens with the people of Russia. Our government does not propose, however, to enter into relations with another regime which refuses to recognize the sanctity of international obligations. I do not propose to barter away for the privilege of trade any of the cherished rights of humanity. I do not propose to make merchandise of any American principles. These rights and principles must go wherever the sanctions of our government go.

But while the favor of America is not for sale, I am willing to make very large concessions for the purpose of rescuing the people of Russia. Already encouraging evidences of returning to the ancient ways of society can be detected. But more are needed. Whenever there appears any disposition to compensate our citizens who were despoiled, and to recognize that debt contracted with our government, not by the Czar, but by the newly formed Republic of Russia; whenever the active spirit of enmity to our institutions is abated; whenever there appear works mete for repentance; our country ought to be the first to go to the economic and moral rescue of Russia. We have every desire to help and no desire to injure. We hope the time is near at hand when we can act.

DEBTS

The current debt and interest due from foreign governments, exclusive of the British debt of $4,600,000,000, is about $7,200,000,000. I do not favor the cancellation of this debt, but I see no objection to adjusting it in accordance with the principle adopted for the British debt. Our country would not wish to assume the role of an oppressive creditor, but would maintain the principle that financial obligations between nations are likewise moral obligations which international faith and honor require should be discharged.

Our government has a liquidated claim against Germany for the expense of the army of occupation of over $25,000,000. Besides this, the Mixed Claims commission have before them about 12,500 claims of American citizens, aggregating about $1,225,000,000. These claims have already been reduced by a recent decision, but there are valid claims reaching well toward $500,000,000. Our thousands of citizens with credits due them of hundreds of millions of dollars have no redress save in the action of our government. These are very substantial interests, which it is the duty of our government to protect as best it can. That course I propose to pursue.

It is for these reasons that we have a direct interest in the economic recovery of Europe. They are enlarged by our desire for the stability of civilization and the welfare of humanity. That we are making sacrifices to that end none can deny. Our deferred interest alone amounts to a million dollars every day. But recently we offered to aid with our advice and counsel. We have reiterated our desire to see France paid and Germany revived. We have proposed disarmament. We have earnestly sought to compose differences and restore peace. We shall persevere in well-doing, not by force, but by reason.

FOREIGN PAPERS

Under the law the papers pertaining to foreign relations to be printed are transmitted as a part of this message. Other volumes of these papers will follow.

FOREIGN SERVICE

The foreign service of our government needs to be recognized and improved.

FISCAL CONDITION

Our main problems are domestic problems.

Financial stability is the first requisite of sound government. We can not escape the effect of world conditions. We can not avoid the inevitable results of the economic disorders which have reached all nations. But we shall diminish their harm to us in proportion as we continue to restore our government finances to a secure and endurable position. This we can and must do. Upon that firm foundation rests the only hope of progress and prosperity. From that source must come relief for the people.

This is being accomplished by a drastic but orderly retrenchment, which is bringing our expenses within our means. The origin of this has been the determination of the American people, the main support has been the courage of those in authority, and the effective method has been the budget system. The result has involved real sacrifice by department heads, but it has been made without flinching. This system is a law of the congress. It represents your will. It must be maintained, and ought to be strengthened by the example of your observance. Wtihout a budget system there can be no fixed responsibility and no constructive scientific economy.

This great concentration of effort by the administration and congress has brought the expenditures, exclusive of the self-supporting Post Office department, down to three billion dollars. It is possible, in consequence, to make a large reduction in the taxes of the people, which is the sole object of all curtailment. This is treated at greater length in the budget message, and a proposed plan has been presented in detail in a statement by the Secretary of the Treasury which has my unqualified approval. I especially commend a decrease on earned incomes, and further abolition of admission, message, and nuisance taxes. The amusement and educational value of moving pictures ought not to be taxed. Diminishing charges against moderate incomes from investment will afford immense relief, while a revision of the surtaxes will not only provide additional money for capital investment, thus stimulating industry and employing more labor, but will not greatly reduce the revenue from that source, and may in the future actually increase it.

Being opposed to war taxes in time of peace, I am not in favor of excess-profits taxes. A very great service could be rendered through immediate enactment of legislation relieving the people of some of the burden of taxation. To reduce war taxes is to give every home a better chance.

For seven years the people have borne with uncomplaining courage the tremendous burden of national and local taxation. These must both be reduced. The taxes of the nation must be reduced now as much as prudence will permit, and expenditures must be reduced accordingly. High taxes reach everywhere and burden everybody. They bear most heavily upon the poor. They diminish industry and commerce. They make agriculture unprofitable. They increase the rates on transportation. They are a charge on every necessary of life. Of all services which the congress can render to the country, I have no hesitation in declaring this one to be paramount. To neglect it, to postpone it, to obstruct it by unsound proposals, is to become unworthy of public confidence and untrue to public trust. The country wants this measure to have the right of way over all others.

Another reform which is urgent in our fiscal system is the abolition of the right to issue tax-exempt securities. The existing system not only permits a large amount of the wealth of the nation to escape its just burden but acts as a continual stimulant to municipal extravagance. This should be prohibited by constitutional amendment. All the wealth of the nation ought to contribute its fair share to the expenses of the nation.

TARIFF LAW

The present tariff law has accomplished its two main objects. It has secured an abundant revenue and been productive of an abounding prosperity. Under it the country has had a very large export and import trade. A constant revision of the tariff by the Congress is disturbing and harmful. The present law contains an elastic provision, authorizing the President to increase or decrease present schedules not in excess of 50 per centum to meet the difference in cost of production at home and abroad. This does not, to my mind, warrant a rewriting of the whole law, but does mean, and will be so administered, that whenever the required investigation shows that inequalities of sufficient importance exist in any schedule, the power to change them should and will be applied.

SHIPPING

The entire well being of our country is dependent upon transportation by sea and land. Our Government during the war acquired a large merchant fleet which should be transferred, as soon as possible, to private ownership and operation under conditions which would secure two results: First, and of prime importance, adequate means for national defense; second, adequate service to American commerce. Until shipping conditions are such that our fleet can be disposed of advantageously under these conditions, it will be operated as economically as possible under such plans as may be devised from time to time by the Shipping Board. We must have a merchant marine which meets these requirements, and we shall have to pay the cost of its service.

PUBLIC IMPROVEMENTS

The time has come to resume in a moderate way the opening of our intracoastal waterways; the control of flood waters of the Mississippi and of the Colorado Rivers; the improvement of the waterways from the Great Lakes toward the Gulf of Mexico; and the development of the great power and navigation project of the St. Lawrence River, for which efforts are now being made to secure the necessary treaty with Canada. These projects can not all be undertaken at once, but all should have the immediate consideration of the Congress and be adopted as fast as plans can be matured and the necessary funds become available. This is not incompatible with economy, for their nature does not require so much a public expenditure as a capital investment which will be reproductive, as evidenced by the marked increase in revenue from the Panama Canal. Upon these projects depend much future industrial and agricultural progress. They represent the protection of large areas from flood and the addition of a great amount of cheap power and cheap freight by use of navigation, chief of which is the bringing of ocean-going ships to the Great Lakes.

Another problem of allied character is the superpower development of the Northeastern States, consideration of which is proceeding under the direction of the Department of Commerce by joint conference with the local authorities.

RAILROADS

Criticism of the railroad law has been directed, first, to the section laying down the rule by which rates are fixed, and providing for payment to the Government and use of excess earnings; second, to the method for the adjustment of wage scales; and third, to the authority permitting consolidations.

It has been erroneously assumed that the act undertakes to guarantee railroad earnings. The law requires that rates should be just and reasonable. That has always been the rule under which rates have been fixed. To make a rate that does not yield a fair return results in confiscation, and confiscatory rates are of course unconstitutional. Unless the Government adheres to the rule of making a rate that will yield a fair return, it must abandon rate making altogether. The new and important feature of that part of the law is the recapture and redistribution of excess rates. The constitutionality of this method is now before the Supreme Court for adjudication. Their decision should be awaited before attempting further legislation on this subject. Furthermore, the importance of this feature will not be great if consolidation goes into effect.

The settlement of railroad labor disputes is a matter of grave public concern. The Labor Board was established to protect the public in the enjoyment of continuous service by attempting to insure justice between the companies and their employees. It has been a great help, but is not altogether satisfactory to the public, the employees, or the companies. If a substantial agreement can be reached among the groups interested, there should be no hesitation in enacting such agreement into law. If it is not reached, the Labor Board may very well be left for the present to protect the public welfare.

The law for consolidations is not sufficiently effective to be expeditions. Additional legislation is needed giving authority for voluntary consolidations, both regional and route, and providing Government machinery to aid and stimulate such action, always subject to the approval of the Interstate Commerce Commission. This should authorize the commission to appoint committees for each proposed group, representing the public and the component roads, with power to negotiate with individual security holders for an exchange of their securities for those of the consolidation on such terms and conditions as the commission may prescribe for avoiding any confiscation and preserving fair values. Should this permissive consolidation prove ineffective after a limited period, the authority of the Government will have to be directly invoked.

Consolidation appears to be the only feasible method for the maintenance of an adequate system of transportation with an opportunity so to adjust freight rates as to meet such temporary conditions as now prevail in some agricultural sections. Competent authorities agree that an entire reorganization of the rate structure for freight is necessary. This should be ordered at once by the Congress.

DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE

As no revision of the laws of the United States has been made since 1878, a commission or committee should be created to undertake this work. The Judicial Council reports that two more district judges are needed in the southern district of New York, one in the northern district of Georgia, and two more circuit judges in the Circuit Court of Appeals of the Eighth Circuit. Legislation should be considered for this purpose.

It is desirable to expedite the hearing and disposal of cases. A commission of Federal judges and lawyers should be created to recommend legislation by which the procedure in the Federal trial courts may be simplified and regulated by rules of court, rather than by statute; such rules to be submitted to the Congress and to be in force until annulled or modified by the Congress. The Supreme Court needs legislation revising and simplifying the laws governing review by that court, and enlarging the classes of cases of two little public importance to be subject to review. Such reforms would expedite the transaction of the business of the courts. The administration of justice is likely to fail if it be long delayed.

The National Government has never given adequate attention to its prison problems. It ought to provide employment in such forms of production as can be used by the Government, though not sold to the public in competition with private business, for all prisoners who can be placed at work, and for which they should receive a reasonable compensation, available for their dependents.

The administration of justice would be facilitated greatly by including in the Bureau of Investigation of the Department of Justice a Division of Criminal Identification, where there would be collected this information which is now indispensable in the suppression of crime.

PROHIBITION

The prohibition amendment to the Constitution requires the Congress and the President to provide adequate laws to prevent its violation. It is my duty to enforce such laws. For that purpose a treaty is being negotiated with Great Britain with respect to the right of search of hovering vessels. To prevent smuggling, the Coast Guard should be greatly strengthened, and a supply of swift power boats should be provided. The major sources of production should be rigidly regulated, and every effort should be made to suppress inter-state traffic. With this action on the part of the National Government, and the cooperation which is usually rendered by municipal and State authorities, prohibition should be made effective. Free government has no greater menace than disrepect for authority and continual violation of law. It is the duty of a citizen not only to observe the law but to let it be known that he is opposed to its violation.

THE NEGRO

Numbered among our population are some 12,000,000 colored people. Under our Constitution their rights are just as sacred as those of any other citizen. It is both a public and a private duty to protect those rights. The Congress ought to exercise all its powers of prevention and punishment against the hideous crime of lynching, of which the negroes are by no means the sole sufferers, but for which they furnish a majority of the victims.

Already a considerable sum is appropriated to give the negroes vocational training in agriculture. About half a million dollars is recommended for medical courses at Howard University to help contribute to the education of 500 colored doctors needed each year. On account of the migration of large numbers into industrial centers, it has been proposed that a commission be created, composed of members from both races, to formulate a better policy for mutual understanding and confidence. Such an effort is to be commended. Everyone would rejoice in the accomplishment of the results which it seeks. But it is well to recognize that these difficulties are to a large extent local problems which must be worked out by the mutual forbearance and human kindness of each community. Such a method gives much more promise of a real remedy than outside interference.

CIVIL SERVICE

The maintenance and extension of the classified civil service is exceedingly important. There are nearly 550,000 persons in the executive civil service drawing about $700,000,000 of yearly compensation. Four-fifths of these are in the classified service. This method of selection of the employees of the United States is especially desirable for the Post Office Department. The Civil Service Commission has recommended that postmasters at first, second and third class offices be classified. Such action, accompanied by a repeal of the four-year term of office, would undoubtedly be an improvement. I also recommend that the field force for prohibition enforcement be brought within the classified civil service without covering in the present membership. The best system for selecting public servants is the merit system.

PUBLIC BUILDINGS

Many of the departments in Washington need better housing facilities. Some are so crowded that their work is impeded, others are so scattered that they lose their identity. While I do not favor at this time a general public building law, I believe it is now necessary, in accordance with plans already sanctioned for a unified and orderly system for the development of this city, to begin the carrying out of those plans by authorizing the erection of three or four buildings most urgently needed by an annual appropriation of $5,000,000.

REGULATORY LEGISLATION

Cooperation with other maritime powers is necessary for complete protection of our coast waters from pollution. Plans for this are under way, but await certain experiments for refuse disposal. Meantime laws prohibiting spreading oil and oil refuse from vessels in our own territorial waters would be most helpful against this menace and should be speedily enacted.

Laws should be passed regulating aviation.

Revision is needed of the laws regulating radio interference.

Legislation and regulations establishing load lines to provide safe loading of vessels leaving our ports are necessary and recodification of our navigation laws is vital.

Revision of procedure of the Federal Trade Commission will give more constructive purpose to this department.

If our Alaskan fisheries are to be saved from destruction, there must be further legislation declaring a general policy and delegating the authority to make rules and regulations to an administrative body.

ARMY AND NAVY

For several years we have been decreasing the personnel of the army and navy, and reducing their power to the danger point. Further reductions should not be made. The army is a guarantee of the security of our citizens at home; the navy is a guarantee of the security of our citizens abroad. Both of these services should be strengthened rather than weakened. Additional planes are needed for the army, and additional submarines for the navy. The defenses of Panama must be perfected. We want no more competitive armaments. We want no more war. But we want no weakness that invites imposition. A people who neglect their national defense are putting in jeopardy their national honor.

INSULAR POSSESSIONS

Conditions in the insular possessions on the whole have been good. Their business has been reviving. They are being administered according to law. That effort has the full support of the administration. Such recommendations as may come from their people or their governments should have the most considerate attention.

EDUCATION AND WELFARE

Our national government is not doing as much as it legitimately can do to promote the welfare of the people. Our enormous material wealth, our institutions, our whole form of society, can not be considered fully successful until their benefits reach the merit of every individual. This is not a suggestion that the government should, or could, assume for the people the inevitable burdens of existence. There is no method by which we can either be relieved of the results of our own folly or be guaranteed a successful life. There is an inescapable personal responsibility for the development of character, of industry, of thrift, and of self-control. These do not come from the government, but from the people themselves. But the government can and should always to be expressive of steadfast determination, always vigilant, to maintain conditions under which these virtues are most likely to develop and secure recognition and reward. This is the American policy.

It is in accordance with this principle that we have enacted laws for the protection of the public health and have adopted prohibition in narcotic drugs and intoxicating liquors. For purposes of national uniformity we ought to provide, by constitutional amendment and appropriate legislation, for a limitation of child labor, and in all cases under the exclusive jurisdiction of the federal government a minimum wage law for women, which would undoubtedly find sufficient power of enforcement in the influence of public opinion.

Having in mind that education is peculiarly a local problem, and that it should always be pursued with the largest freedom of choice by students and parents, nevertheless, the federal government might well give the benefit of its counsel and encouragement more freely in this direction. If anyone doubts the need of concerted action by the states of the nation for this purpose, it is only necessary to consider the appalling figures of illiteracy representing a condition which does not vary much in all parts of the Union. I do not favor the making of appropriations from the national treasury to be expended directly on local education, but I do consider it a fundamental requirement of national activity which, accompanied by allied subjects of welfare, is worthy of a separate department and a place in the cabinet. The humanitarian side of government should not be repressed, but should be cultivated.

Mere intelligence, however, is not enough. Enlightenment must be accompanied by that moral power which is the product of the home and of religion. Real education and true welfare for the people rest inevitably on this foundation, which the government can approve and commend, but which the people themselves must create.

IMMIGRATION

American institutions rest solely on good citizenship. They were created by people who had a background of self-government. New arrivals should be limited to our capacity to absorb them into the ranks of good citizenship. America must be kept American. For this purpose, it is necessary to continue a policy of restricted immigration. It would be well to make such immigration of a selective nature with some inspection at the source, and based either on a prior census or upon the record of naturalization. Either method would insure the admission of those with the largest capacity and best intention of becoming citizens. I am convinced that our present economic and social conditions warrant a limitation of those to be admitted. We should find additional safety in a law requiring the immediate registration of all aliens. Those who do not want to be partakers of the American spirit ought not to settle in America.

VETERANS

No more important duty falls on the government of the United States than the adequate care of its veterans. Those suffering disabilities incurred in the service must have sufficient hospital relief and compensation. Their dependents must be supported. Rehabilitation and vocational training must be completed. All of this service must be clean, must be prompt and effective, and it must be administered in a spirit of the broadest and deepest human sympathy. If investigation reveals any present defects of administration or need of legislation, orders will be given for the immediate correction of administration, and recommendations for legislation should be given the highest preference.

At present there are 9,500 vacant beds in government hospitals, I recommend that all hospitals be authorized at once to receive and care for, without hospital pay, the veterans of all wars needing such care, whenever there are vacant beds, and that immediate steps be taken to enlarge and build new hospitals to serve all such cases.

The American Legion will present to the congress a legislative program too extensive for detailed discussion here. It is a carefully matured plan. While some of it I do not favor, with much of it I am in hearty accord, and I recommend that a most painstaking effort be made to provide remedies for any defects in the administration of the present laws which their experience has revealed. The attitude of the government toward these proposals should be one of generosity.

But I do not favor the granting of a bonus.

COAL

The cost of coal has become unbearably high. It places a great burden on our industrial and domestic life. The public welfare requires a reduction in the price of fuel. With the enormous deposits in existence, failure of supply ought not be tolerated. Those responsible for the conditions in this industry should undertake its reform and free it from any charge of profiteering.

The report of the Coal Commission will be before the congress. It comprises all the facts. It represents the mature deliberations and conclusions of the best talent and experience that ever made a national survey of the production and distribution of fuel. I do not favor government ownership or operation of coal mines. The need is for action under private ownership that will secure greater continuity of production and greater public protection. The federal government probably has no peace-time authority to regulate wages, prices, or profits in coal at the mines or among dealers, but by ascertaining and publishing facts it can exercise great influence.

The source of the difficulty in the bituminous coal fields is the intermittence of operation which causes great waste of both capital and labor. That part of the report dealing with this problem has much significance, and is suggestive of necessary remedies. By amending the car rules, by encouraging greater unity of ownership, and possibly by permitting common selling agents for limited districts on condition that they accept adequate regulations and guarantee that competition between districts be unlimited, distribution, storage, and continuity ought to be improved.

The supply of coal must be constant. In case of its prospective interruption, the president should have authority to appoint a commission empowered to deal with whatever emergency situation might arise, to aid conciliation and voluntary arbitration, to adjust any existing or threatened controversy between the employer and the employe when collective bargaining fails, and by controlling distribution to prevent profiteering in this vital necessity. This legislation is exceedingly urgent, and essential to the exercise of national authority for the protection of the people. Those who undertake the responsibility of management or employment in this industry do so with the full knowledge that the public interest is paramount, and that to fail through any motive or selfishness in its service is such a betrayal of duty as warrants uncompromising action by the government.

REORGANIZATION

A special joint committee has been appointed to work out a plan for a reorganization of the different departments and bureaus of the government more scientific and economical than the present system. With the exception of the consolidation of the war and navy departments and some minor details, the plan has the general sanction of the president and the cabinet. It is important that reorganization be enacted into law at the present session.

AGRICULTURE

Aided by the sound principles adopted by the government, the business of the country has had an extraordinary revival. Looked at as a whole, the nation is in the enjoyment of remarkable prosperity. Industry and commerce are thriving. For the most part agriculture is successful, eleven staples having risen in value from about $5,300,000,000 two years ago to about $7,000,000,000 for the current year. But range cattie are still low in price, and some sections of the wheat area, notably Minnesota, North Dakota, and on west, have many cases of actual distress. With his products not selling on a parity with the products of industry, every sound remedy that can be devised should be applied for the relief of the farmer. He represents a character, a type of citizenship, and a public necessity that must be preserved and afforded every facility for regaining prosperity.

The distress is most acute among those wholly dependent upon one crop. Wheat acreage was greatly expanded and has not yet been sufficiently reduced. A large amount is raised for export, which has to meet the competition in the world market of large amounts raised on land much cheaper and much more productive.

No complicated scheme of relief, no plan for government fixing of prices, no resort to the public treasury will be of any permanent value in establishing agriculture. Simple and direct methods put into operation by the farmer himself are the only real sources for restoration.

Indirectly the farmer must be relieved by a reduction of national and local taxation. He must be assisted by the reorganization of the freight-rate structure which could reduce charges on his production. To make this fully effective there ought to be railroad consolidations. Cheaper fertilizers must be provided.

He must have organization. His customer with whom he exchanges products of the farm for those of industry is organized, labor is organized, business is organized, and there is no way for agriculture to meet this unless it, too, is organized. The acreage of wheat is too large. Unless we can meet the world market at a profit, we must stop raising for export. Organization would help to reduce acreage. Systems of co-operative marketing created by the farmers themselves, supervised by competent management, without doubt would be of assistance, but they can not wholly solve the problem. Our agricultural schools ought to have thorough courses in the theory of organization and co-operative marketing.

Diversification is necessary. Those farmers who raise their living on their land are not greatly in distress. Such loans as are wisely needed to assist buying stock and other materials to start in this direction should be financed through a government agency as a temporary and emergency expedient.

The remaining difficulty is the disposition of exportable wheat. I do not favor the permanent interference of the government in this problem. That probably would increase the trouble by increasing production. But it seems feasible to provide government assistance to exports, and authority should be given the War Finance Corporation to grant, in its discretion, the most liberal terms of payment for fats and grains exported for the direct benefit of the farm.

MUSCLE SHOALS

The government is undertaking to develop a great water-power project known at Muscle Shoals, on which it has expended many million dollars. The work is still going on. Subject to the right to retake in time of war, I recommend that this property with a location for auxiliary steam plant and rights of way be sold. This would end the present burden of expense and should return to the treasury the largest price possible to secure.

While the price is an important element, there is another consideration even more compelling. The agriculture of the nation needs a greater supply and lower cost of fertilizer. This is now imported in large quantities. The best information I can secure indicates that present methods of power production would not be able profitably to meet the price at which these imports can be sold. To obtain a supply from this water power would require long and costly experimentation to perfect a process for cheap production. Otherwise our purpose would fail completely. It seems desirable, therefore, in order to protect and promote the public welfare, to have adequate covenants that such experimentation be made and carried on to success. The great advantage of low-priced nitrates must be secured for the direct benefit of the farmers and the indirect benefit of the public in time of peace, and of the government in time of war. If this main object be accomplished, the amount of money received for the property is not a primary or major consideration.

Such a solution will involve complicated negotiations, and there is no authority for that purpose. I therefore recommend that the congress appoint a small joint committee to consider offers, conduct negotiations, and report definite recommendations.

RECLAMATION

By reason of many contributing causes, occupants of our reclamation projects are in financial difficulties, which in some cases are acute. Relief should be granted by definite authority of law empowering the secretary of the interior in his discretion to suspend, readjust, and reassess all charges against water users. This whole question is being considered by experts. You will have the advantage of the facts and conclusions which they may develop. This situation, involving a government investment of more than $135,000,000, and affecting more than 30,000 water users, is serious. While relief which is necessary should be government which can be met should be met. The established general policy of these projects should not be abandoned for any private control.

HIGHWAYS AND FORESTS

Highways and reforestation should continue to have the interest and support of the government. Everyone is anxious for good highways. I have made a liberal proposal in the budget for the continuing payment to the States by the Federal government of its share for this necessary public improvement. No expenditure of public money contributes so much to the national wealth as for building good roads.

Reforestation has an importance far above the attention it usually secures. A special committee of the Senate is investigating this need, and I shall welcome a constructive policy based on their report.

It is 100 years since our country announced the Monroe doctrine. This principle has been ever since, and is now, one of the main foundations of our foreign relations. It must be maintained. But in maintaining it we must not be forgetful that a great change has taken place. We are no longer a weak nation, thinking mainly of defense, dreading foreign imposition. We are great and powerful. New powers bring new responsibilities. Our duty then was to protect ourselves. Added to that, our duty now is to help give stability to the world. We want idealism. We want that vision which lifts men and nations above themselves. These are virtues by reason of their own merit. But they must not be cloistered; they must not be impractical; they must not be ineffective.

The world has had enough of the curse of hatred and selfishness, of destruction and war. It has had enough of the wrongful use of material power. For the healing of the nations there must be good will and charity, confidence and peace. The time has come for a more practical use of moral power, and more reliance upon the principle that right makes its own might. Our authority among the nations must be represented by justice and mercy. It is necessary not only to have faith, but to make sacrifices for our faith. The spiritual forces of the world make all its final determinations. It is with these voices that America should speak. Whenever they declare a righteous purpose there need be no doubt that they will be heard. America has taken her place in the world as a republic—free, independent, powerful. The best service that can be rendered to humanity is the assurance that this place will be maintained.

SECTION THREE — SANTA ANA CALIFORNIA, THURSDAY, DECEMBER 6, 1923 — Pages Seventeen to Twenty-Two

COAST CONFERENCE TO RULE ON GAME

U. S. C. Representatives to Back Washington Eleven At S. F. Gathering.

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 6.—Southern California is probably decidedly in favor of post-season international football games, but it's a question whether the Pacific coast football conference is.

"Gloomy Gus" Henderson, Ralph La Porte, faculty member, and Gwynn Wilson, graduate manager, all of the University of Southern California, were to go to San Francisco today to attend the conference meeting at which is expected one of those pleasant little tilts that are common only at baseball and football gatherings.

There's a possibility—and only a possibility—that the conference will go on record against the University of Washington-Navy game New Year's day. That's the rumor that is persistently afloat here, but facts do not seem to bear out the statement.

California seems to be about the only school on the coast that is rabid on the subject. In view of the Trojans announced intention to support Washington it is hardly likely the local representatives will oppose the holiday contest. Oregon and Washington State college certainly ought not to line up with the bears since both of them have participated in these cross-country games themselves. What Stanford, Oregon Agricultural college and Idaho will do is not known, but they have no particular reason to bar Eastern games, and are not likely to vote that way.

Western football has only come into recognition through intersectional games, and it would be a blow to the coast gridiron if the games were barred.

PLAN TO REBUILD ASCOT PARK TRACK

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 6.— Ascot speedway, famous in days gone by as the original home of Southern California speed thrills, is to be completely rebuilt according to plans being formulated by George R. Bentel of this city.

Expeditures of approximately $1,000,000 to get the old track in shape have been approved. It is the intention of Bentel to hold auto races every week once the track is completed.

Siki Unimpressive In First American Match With Norfolk

Battling Siki, the singular Senegalese now campaigning this country, failed to impress the experts who saw him in action with Kid Norfolk, the colored heavyweight, at the Madison Square Garden recently. Norfolk hit Siki with everything but the rafters. All Siki showed was an ability to "take 'em."

Fights and Fighters

BUENOS AIRES—In answer to reports from Milan that Erminio Spalla, European heavyweight champion, had accepted terms for a fight in the Argentine with Luis Firpo, the South American champion, said today he would not consider a fight with Spalla in this country or any other country.

RED BANK, N. J. — With Jock Malone added to his staff of sparring partners Gene Tunney is putting the finishing touches on his training for his fight on next Monday with Harry Greb. Tunney will demand a fight with Georges Carpentier if he wins from Greb.

NEW YORK.—"Three more good fights and Benny Leonard will be ready to retire," Billy Gibson, the lightweight champion's manager, said. Pal Moran and Louis Vincentino, South American lightweight, may be taken for Leonard for two of the outdoor bouts.

FIRPO-WILLS BOUT SCHEME ABANDONED

Promoters Looking Around For Luis Rival Before Dempsey Rematch

By HENRY L. FARRELL.
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, Dec. 6.—Plans for a Firpo-Wills fight as the grand "Whoop up" for a return bout between Jack Dempsey and the big Argentine practically have been abandoned.

The promoters interested are now trying to find a good heavyweight who can be built up as a suitable test for Firpo.

Wills declined to consider terms for a Firpo bout until he has had a chance with Dempsey and he still believes that he will get the fight if he waits long enough.

Wills claims that Firpo would not consider a fight with him until the South American had met the champion and even after that he named impossible terms.

Promoters now are working on George Godfrey, the big colored boy from Philadelphia, as a good car for a fight with Firpo. If necessary Godfrey might be sent to South America.

Godfrey, who is a second Jack Johnson in appearance and style, worked as Dempsey's sparring partner at Great Falls when the champion was preparing for the Gibbons fight and later at White Sulphur Springs when Dempsey was getting ready for the Firpo bout.

Godfrey was knocked out in his first important fight with Jack Renault, but he wasn't in good shape then. From reliable sources it is understood Godfrey has been matched to meet Fred Fulton in Madison Square Garden on December 21 and if Fulton does his customary stuff Godfrey will be steamed up for Firpo.

Godfrey is managed by Jimmy Daugherty, close friend of Jack Kearns and Dempsey.

New Legal Firm Opens Office in Santa Ana

The law firm of Burns and Quail opened today in Suite 209 of the Ramona building. The members of the firm are Kennith H. Burns and Jarvis T. Quail, both graduates of the University of Southern California law school.

Burns has practiced for some time in Los Angeles, while Quail graduated from law school in June.

Burns said today that he has toured the entire state seeking a location for their office, but no city in the state so favorably impressed him as did Santa Ana.

SPORTS of all SORTS

Instead of eliminating some of the more or less non-essentials that are hanging around on the edge of the group of select heavy-weights, the American invasion of Battling Siki threatens to only add one more to the list.

Siki perhaps will win as many fights as he will lose if he is steered on the way by a clever manager, but that only adds more testimonials to the fact that the heavyweight class is not carrying an overload of class.

While he hasn't the finish or the polish to get far—even among the second-class heavyweights, Siki may do himself some good among the light heavyweights, where he may outgame some of the first-class contenders.

The light heavyweight class is in a very bad way, so bad, in fact, that the International Boxing union refused, at its last meeting, to recognize a champion of the class.

Siki beat Carpenter; McTigue beat Siki, and then had a bad fight with Young Stribling down south. Gene Tunney is the American champion, and Harry Greb, present middleweight champion, is the former light heavyweight title holder. McTigue refuses to fight anyone, on the pretext of bad hands. Stribling is too young to fight in New York, and Kid Norfolk who beat Siki in his American debut, is too black to fight.

With Siki's kinky scalp hanging to his belt, Norfolk may get some of the confidence in himself that he lacks, and if he gets to believing in himself, he is as good as anyone in the class.

If Americans had the opportunity of seeing Siki before he fought McTigue, the Senegalese would have had a lot of sympathizers and supporters here when he suggested that the assignment of "taking" an Irishman in Dublin on St. Patrick's day was too much for any colored man.

Denny Gearin, the smallest pitcher in captivity, was voted $1,500 out of the Giant players' share of the world's series, and all he did in the series was a service of a minute or two as a pinch-runner. Howard Gill, who pitched only one complete inning for the Reds during the whole season, was given a full share of the Reds' second-place money by Commissioner Landis, and it amounted to $1,076.

Christy Mathewson didn't get that much when he pitched three shutouts against the Athletics in the 1905 world's series.

That may be high pay per minute, but it isn't enough money for a good tip, compared to the $310,000 a minute that Jack Dempsey got for beating Firpo.

Any statements made in the past by Luis Firpo and his handlers about the terrible treatment they received in the fight with Jack Dempsey and those that are sure to come in the future should be passed without any consideration.

Firpo wants to fight Dempsey again, and don't think for a minute that Firpo doesn't realize that as long as he is in South America he hasn't the easy access to public print that he had when he was in this country.

The statement by Firpo's handlers that Dempsey hired six hecklers to annoy the South American during his training was absurd.

The only time that Firpo was heckled in Atlantic City was when he allowed a crowd of several hundred to pay their way into the training camp and then decided that the weather was too cold to work.

Dempsey wasted good money if he hired his hecklers to work on that occasion, because it was not needed.

Firpo was suspicious of Americans from the time he first came to this country, and it is apparent that he did not learn while he was here to trust a public that was certainly very kind and generous to him.

MONTANA, SAMPSON IN MATCH TONIGHT

Movieland Favorite Heads Wrestling Card to Be Staged at Orana

WRESTLING CARD.

Main Event—Bull Montana, vs. Jack Sampson, best two out of three falls. Preliminary—Jim Londos vs. Jack Anderson.

Orange county gives wrestling another test at the Orange County Athletic club, at Orana, tonight when Bull Montana, movieland favorite, will endeavor to squash to the mat the burly shoulders of Jack Sampson. The two are light heavyweights.

The preliminary match also gives local sport followers a high class bout for Jimmy Londos, recognized as the champion of Greece, goes on with Jack Anderson, who claims the same title of Germany.

Should the attendance tonight warrant, Promoter Pierce probably will stage semi-monthly wrestling bouts at the Orana enclosure, he announced.

Montana, one of the screen's most interesting characters, never has been seen in action here and Pierce expects a good-sized throng to see the rough and ready Italian mingle with his cauliflower-eared foe.

The "Bool" is a wrestler by trade but plays in the movies when his services are demanded for some character role. He admits he is good at either acting or grappling. He and Sampson will fling each other about the hempen square to two falls out of three.

Londos, who takes on Anderson, is a main-eventer on most cards. He is a powerfully built fellow and seldom has had his shoulders draping the floor. The bouts get under way about 8:30 o'clock.

Should a Woman Stand By Husband Who's Both A Libertine and Brute?

CLARE thought not. Jerry was faithless, a drunkard. He had reviled and struck her. In her despair she turned to Daniel Gilchrist,

The Fool who had wooed and lost her—because she would not wed a man whose motto, literally as he interpreted it, was the Golden Rule. "I've been blind, stupid, cruel," she said. "Take me and we'll forget." "Go back to your husband," Daniel replied. "You love me," insisted Clare. "Deny it if you can." "Yes," agreed Daniel, "but love isn't all. DUTY! Go back." And Clare went. Duty, as the New Testament reveals it, was the whole motif in Gilchrist's life story, told in

Pollock has been asked to discuss it before more than 300 universities, schools, clubs and churches. Seven companies have presented it simultaneously to packed houses. A PUZZLE A DAY

YES! WE HAVE NICE BANANAS

This is the sign that was hung out by an enterprising Italian fruit dealer, who parodied the popular song to advertise his wares. His main reason for using the sign, however, was because it contained the name of the city in Italy where he was born. Can you discover the fruit dealer's town?

Yesterday's answer:

Innings	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	R.
Home Team	0	0	4	0	0	0	6	6	x	—16
Visitors	0	0	0	1	2	0	3	3	0	— 9

In the completed score the visitors scored 3 to the home team's 6 in both the seventh and eighth innings. As there were no runs in the ninth, only the visitors batted, for the home team led by 7 runs. As the home team batted only eight innings, its average of runs per inning was 2 (16 divided by 8), which was twice as good as the visitors' average of 1 run per inning (9 divided by 9).

Santa Fe's Monthly Boosting California

"The Earth," the Santa Fe railroad's monthly magazine devoted to agricultural, industrial and other development and progress along its entire system, prints a boost for California on the front cover page of the December number, just off the press, according to F. T. Smith, local agent of the company. The article is headed, "Why People are Moving to California," it reads:

"California has more newcomers than any other state, and there are reasons which appeal strongly to homeseekers.

"The Santa Fe railway, which serves the counties of San Diego, Orange, Los Angeles, San Bernardino, Riverside, Kings, Kern, Tulare, Fresno, Madera, Stanislaus, Merced, San Joaquin, and Contra Costa, in the heart of the state, obtained from 200 settlers who have lived in the rural districts less than three years, statements of why they moved to California.

"Climate was the first answer given by 186. Opportunity to make a living under favorable conditions was the substance of the first or second reason given by 142. Some were health seekers, other pleasure seekers, while others offered various reasons for being there; but the most of them declared that they moved to California because they could engage profitably in the business of tilling the soil for the production of fruit, vegetables, livestock or grain under conditions as nearly ideal as it is possible to have them, and with the comforts of the country combined with the conveniences of the city."

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Hubert Stane serves a term in prison for forgery. He rescues Helen Yardeley from the river when her life is in danger. They start to walk the trail to the camp of Helen's uncle, near a northern post of the Hudson Bay Company. They take possession of a deserted cabin and at night the cabin is attacked by Indians.

Helen is abducted and Stane is left for dead. Benard, a trapper, finds Stane and revives him. They are joined in the search for Helen by Anderton of the N. W. M. P. Gerald Ainley, in love with Helen, shoots her captors and rescues the girl.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

"Don't know me, Ainley? I dare say not. I'm not quite the tailor's mannikin that I was in the old days at the 'Varsity. Got a man's job now, you see. And that reminds me, I'm here on duty. I happened to be up the Little Moose when that shooting took place this morning. There's a couple of dead Indians up there, and as I guess you had something to do with their sudden deaths I shall have to call on you for an explanation you know."

Ainley looked at the policeman without fear. He waved a hand towards the fire.

"May as well make ourselves comfortable. It's rather a long story I have to tell. Where are your dogs?"

"Back in the wood—anchored. I'll slip back and fetch them."

"No," said Stane, "I will go back for them."

He turned, and Helen turned with him.

"You don't mind," she whispered.

"Mind!"

She walked by his side, a hand on his arm. Once when they were well in the shadows of the wood they stopped, and with his ar

FOURTEEN YEARS AGO TODAY

Now and then we find a paragraph in the "Fourteen Years Ago" column on The Register's editorial page that calls for immediate comparisons. It was a paragraph of that sort that appeared this week. It read as follows:

The Santa Ana post office showed a large increase in receipts in November over the same month last year. In November, 1908, Postmaster Shaw took in cash totalling $1895.90, while last month he received $2306.

That was in November, 1909.

The postal receipts for the Santa Ana post office for the November just past made a total of $11,264. The receipts for November, 1922, were $9,186.61. The gain for November of this year over November of last year was $2,087.39.

Thus, we find Santa Ana's post office, a criterion for general business conditions, doing five times as much business as was done fourteen years ago. But the most interesting feature that we find in the comparison is that the gain of November, 1923, over November, 1922, was greater by $182.39 than the total of the business done by the office in the entire month of November, 1908.

All of the available figures that we have show Santa Ana to be growing at a rate of from fifteen to twenty per cent a year.

The figures for November, at the post office, showing about eighteen per cent more business this year over last, substantiate numerous other comparisons that have been made recently showing that Santa Ana is gaining in population and business at a rate of from fifteen to twenty-five per cent a year.

And we are wondering whether the figures presented by the post office for this November, fourteen years from now, will look as small to us as do the figures for fourteen years ago.

A VICTORY FOR THE HARBOR

The large number of residents of Southern California who are keenly interested in the development of Newport harbor have every reason to feel highly pleased with the result of the hearing held at Washington yesterday. That hearing resulted in an order for a re-survey of Newport harbor by government engineers. It is expected that the re-survey will give adequate basis for asking for government appropriations for the harbor.

The readiness with which the Committee on Rivers and Harbors granted the request indicates not only the clarity and forcefulness with which the cause of the harbor was presented but also indicates the growing conviction among national legislators that the commerce of the Pacific is developing. They see that a tremendous activity on this coast has developed and that preparations must be made for tremendous developments in the future.

Our fight to secure federal aid for the development of our harbor has really just begun. We cannot expect an appropriation to be handed to us like a present from a Christmas tree. But we have a legitimate proposition to present, and we can carry on our fight with confidence in the outcome. That confidence is enhanced by the success with which Congressman Swing and the harbor delegation pleaded our cause at Washington yesterday.

CANADA'S LIQUOR BUSINESS

The delegation from Washington seeking the cooperation of Canada to stop liquor smuggling into this country has met so far with courtesy but not much practical encouragement. The Canadian government appears to take the position that it is not its brother's keeper, that the liquor problem is Uncle Sam's, and the Dominion cannot be expected to go out of its way to help.

It is lawful for Canadians to export liquor, even when they cannot sell it at home, and their government has a considerable revenue from the export duties. It is said to make about $1,000,000 out of every 40,000 cases of whisky smuggled into the United States.

Canada, according to dispatches from Ottawa, might agree to forbid the shipment of liquor from Great Lakes ports and refuse clearance papers to seagoing vessels with liquor cargoes for the American twelve-mile line, provided our government had "something to trade" for those concessions. There is little to offer in return.

As a straight matter of business, the position of the Dominion government is quite comprehensible. But surely this is not altogether a business deal. The United States has not been used to finding Canada indifferent to considerations of morality and friendship—which themselves are good business in the long run.

CIVIC TIDINESS

Carelessness in the matter of community tidiness seems to be increasing generally. England, always noted in the past for its neat and well-kept countryside, now complains that newspapers, lunch boxes and tin cans are thrown all over the landscape in barbarous desecration. Everybody in this country has either seen for himself or read about the unsightly state of main thoroughfares, on city streets and public parks, in general.

The National Chamber of Commerce is now pushing a movement in the United States, the purpose of which is to promote civic tidiness. It urges three methods of effecting this: Education, the adequate provision of receptacles for waste and rubbish, and the enforcement of the ordinances concerning cleanliness that already exist in many cities and towns.

Here is a reform that couldn't possibly have menacing accompaniments, and in which everybody, young or old, big or little, may participate. By starting at one's own doorstep and watching oneself throughout the day, a lot of carelessness can be stopped. Anyone who wishes can refrain from throwing paper or other litter around where it can become a public nuisance.

SUNSHINE AS MEDICINE

Sunshine is the best medicine for babies, says a physician. It will cure rickets, for example, when diet will not. It is a great preventive for all kinds of minor ailments. It makes attacks of major ailments less severe by building up the child's vitality and resisting power. It is invaluable in cases of tuberculosis.

The sun is a great power plant. It literally "charges the battery" of the child properly exposed to its rays. It is said to be mainly the short, ultra-violet rays which do the work. They are most effective when the child is shielded as little as possible by impervious clothing. Direct exposure of the skin to the wholesome rays is the ideal way. Tubercular children in some sanitariums are exposed to the sun, summer and winter, almost naked, so that the penetrating rays may shine deep into their bodies. There is less benefit from indoor sunshine coming through windows, because the window glass screens out the ultra-violet rays.

What is good for babies is, of course, good also for grown-ups. The hygienic value of sunshine has never yet been half appreciated.

Winter is the most serious time for children, and likewise for their elders, because in most places the sunshine is shut off so much of the time. As the winter advances, the batteries get more and more run down and in need of charging.

Movies Going Into Politics

San Francisco Chronicle

The film industry is going into politics. A start is to be made at Los Angeles by the formation of a league determined to secure better political conditions for those engaged in the production of moving pictures. If the plan works successfully there is a possibility its activities may be extended to take in all sections of the country.

The decision of producers, actors, directors, scenario writers and others of the movie world to engage in politics will be watched with interest.. It is one thing to be a hard-boiled politician on the screen and quite another to rub elbows with a district boss and engage in the practical side of the game. However, those who have been keen enough to develop such a great industry as the moving pictures, cannot be said to be lacking in other qualifications. Organization is a big element in the building of successful political units. The picture producers have shown marked ability in that line. If they can employ the same keenness in organizing for political purposes there is no telling what they may be able to accomplish.

Los Angeles officials stopped a movie ball at midnight and that is what brought to a crisis the resolve of the producers and others of the movie industry to go into politics. Lesser things than a dance have been known to have started something in a political way.

Diversify Crops, Good Policy

Pasadena Star-News

Kansas farmers have solved, in part, the problem of financial success on the farm. Instead of putting their eggs all in one basket, to use the old illustration—or, instead of putting their crops all in the wheat bin, Kansas farmers have diversified production and they find now that corn is more profitable to them than wheat. The Kansas wheat crop shows loss of $35,000,000 while the corn crop shows a gain of $33,000,000, thus approximately balancing. Oats, barley and hay also are bringing good returns.

This may denote the way for better financial showing on the farm. With diversification of crops, there is sure to be good returns on some crop. Diversification also wards off the risk of a partial or complete failure in some one important crop. Should one product fail, the farmer thus has other crops upon which to fall back. Kansas may have found the key to the problem of unremunerative farm production.

The Country Club

Redlands Facts

Country Club social activities are to be ushered in next Tuesday night. The Redlands Country Club has grown to a community institution of large value from a commercial standpoint, as well as affording much pleasure to members and others. The average number of out-of-town players using the golf course is now ten per day, which means that the club is attracting many here for sport. It has been the experience of other communities that there isn't any lure toward residence to compare with that of a good country club.

Two thousand California teachers at Fresno adopted resolutions slamming at Governor Richardson, and characterizing some of his comments on the schools and educators of the state as "malicious, pernicious and unworthy of the Governor of this great commonwealth." If the Governor and the school people persist in thus voicing their opinion of each other, we are wondering what kind of an estimate of both will be held by the pupils who are standing on the side lines by the hundred thousand.—San Bernardino Sun.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M. D.

IS YOUR BODY SETTLING DOWN?

A middle-aged chap, after considerable comment on the part of his friends and advices from sources nearer home, decided that perhaps he was too heavy and would attempt to reduce his weight and waist line.

Accordingly he went about it systematically, and among other things attended a gymnasium.

Here all his measurements were taken, including height, weight, chest and waist girths. He found his height to be nearly three-quarters of an inch less than he had believed it to be, and asked to have it taken again. The machine again measure it the three-quarters inches less.

After the usual course of exercises during the winter, and abstaining from starchy foods and liquids, he was examined again in the spring.

His chest was larger, his waist inches smaller, and he was twenty-five pounds lighter in weight.

When his height was taken he was a half inch taller than at the previous examination in the Autumn.

He was sceptical about it and stepped on the machine again. Sure enough he had actually gained the half-inch in height.

Now, can a middle-aged man increase his height?

Yes, a stout man, whose abdomen is protruding, or even a thin man who has allowed himself to "sag," can both increase their height with a little thought about it.

Remember this is not actually "new" height they are gaining, it is simply that they are "regaining" the height which their habit of life and posture had lost for them. Now, while height is a nice possession, that is not the reason that I am narrating the above experience. My real reason?

That, if you are willing to do just one little thing every day of your life, you'll not only retain your height; but you will retain your youthful carriage, and remain "pliable" in body for many years.

This one thing will take you just two and a half minutes a day.

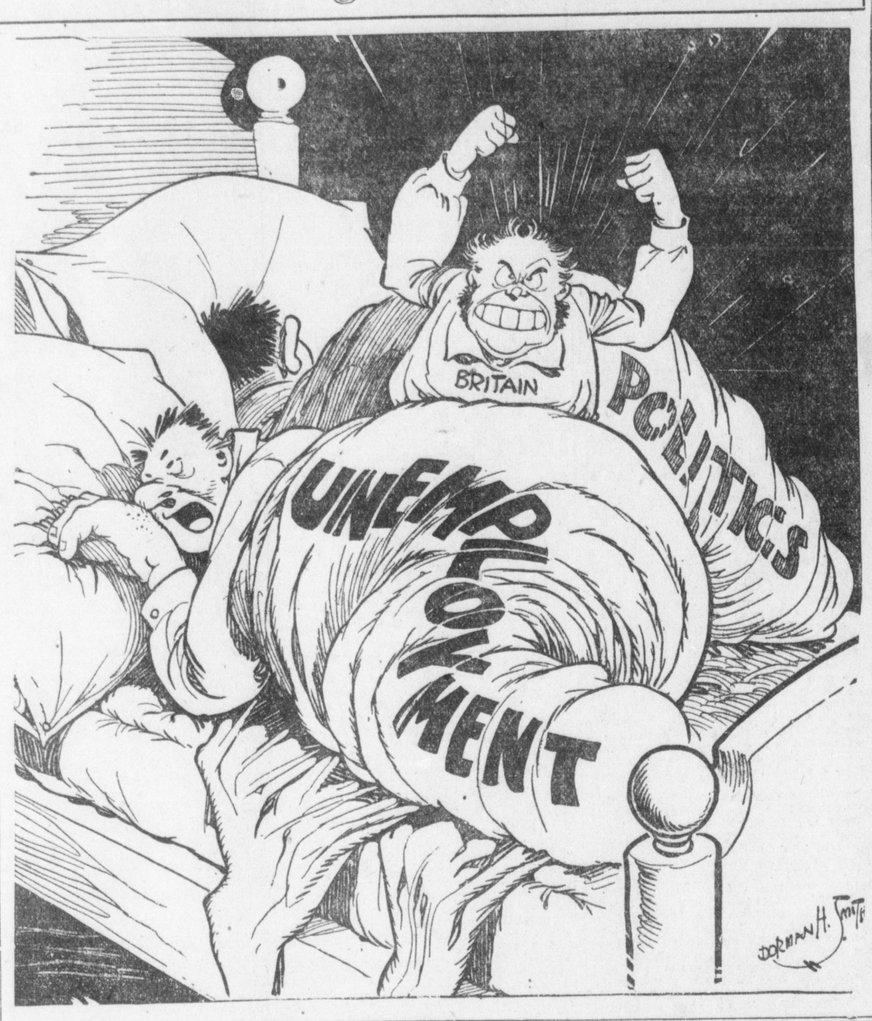

Simply extend hands high over your head and reach down and try to touch the floor with your fingers, knees straight. Then bend backward as you come to erect posture. Do this twelve times.

Then, keeping hands still over head, and knees straight, rock from right side over to left side. Do this also twelve times.

Further, by keeping all the bones of the spine moving daily you give the "cushions" between the bones a chance to stretch themselves and you'll be free of backache, and many headaches.

A Tight Situation

What Is Your Ambition?

San Francisco Journal

EVERY man to whom the world concedes greatness seems to have been possessed of an overwhelming ambition. It was Benjamin Franklin's dream to die useful rather than rich. To him the noblest question in life was, "What good may I do in it?"

We know that Lincoln's fondest ambition was to make the world better in his own humble way. He said at one time, "Live as I may, die as I must, I want it said of me that I always tried to pluck a thistle and plant a flower where I thought a flower would grow."

While George Washington, the man to whom Americans owe almost all they have today in the way of solid, worth-while government, said: "Always labor to keep alive within your breast that little spark of celestial fire called conscience."

There is a great deal of truth in the power of auto-suggestion. And the man who sets a mark for his own daily conduct is more likely to attain his goal than the one who drifts and dreams without any special ambition.

For, mark you, Franklin became one of the most useful Americans of his, or any, time. Lincoln is counted among the most merciful constructive statesmen of the world. And Washington is remembered as one of the most conscientious men the world has ever known.

What is your ambition?

Worth While Verse

INSPIRATION

If with light head erect I sing,
Though all the muses lend their force,
From my poor love of anything,
The verse is weak and shallow as its source.

But if with bended neck I grope
Listening behind me for my wit,
With faith superior to hope,
More anxious to keep back than forward it,

Making my soul accomplice there
Unto the flame my heart hath lit,
Then will the verse forever wear,
Time can not bend the line which God has writ.

I hearing get, who had but ears,
And sight, who had but eyes before;
I moments live, who lived but years,
And truth discern, who knew but learning's lore.

Now chiefly is my natal hour,
And only now my prime of life;
Of manhood's strength it is the flower,
'Tis peace's end, and war's beginning strife.

It comes in summer's broadest noon.
By a gray wall, or some chance place,
Unseasoning time, insulting June,
And vexing day with its presuming face.

I will not doubt the love untold
Which not my worth nor want hath bought,
Which wooed me young, and woes me old,
And to this evening hath me brought.
—Henry David Thoreau.

LAND'S END

The shores of the world are ours, the solitary
Beaches that bear no fruit, nor any flowers,
Only the pale sea-grass that the wind harries
Hours on unbroken hours.

No one will envy us these empty reaches
At the world's end, and none will care that we Leave our lost footprints where the sand forever
Takes the unchanging passion of the sea.
—Sara Teasdale, in Scribner's.

Tom Sims Says

Keep away from Russia. People are eating dogs there. You might
In this auto age, the hen may cross because she is despondent over
Just think of the money chilly weather saves you on the ice bill.
Get something for the home this Christmas. A hammer for cracking nuts, burglars and collectors is fine.
A thousand dollars makes a fine gift, but it is rather expensive.
The time has come to shop early and avoid avoiding the shoppers.

Some Odds and Ends

TIRED?

Germany reveals the name of the drug used by her shock troops during the war to stimulate them to a great outburst of energy. This drug relieves fatigue and temporarily increases energy. Alcohol does the same.

But alcohol has its reaction—a slump below normal. So does the German drug. So does every stimulant, even emotions such as enthusiasm and inspiration. We can't fool nature, we can't cheat her, though all of us try repeatedly.

WEATHER

It's possible that, in the future, the weather forecaster will be able to predict as far as a month ahead. So claims the Weather Bureau, which already has had considerable success in this direction, sometimes striking it right three out of four times, in forecasting both temperature and rainfall.

Maybe this would have considerable commercial value. But it would make life duller, for one of the most interesting features of existence is the uncertainty of the weather. The future loses most of its charm when it becomes too certain—too cut-and-dried.

CHAIRS

This must have been an uncomfortable world in the old days. Cescinsky and Gribble have written a book revealing that the chair was a rare article of furniture 400 years ago, and was almost unknown a century before that. Previously people used stools, on which they sat more or less uncomfortably for thousands of years until some unknown lazy gent, who liked comfort, got the idea of adding a back and turning the stool into a chair.

DUST

City air has as much as 100 million particles of dust to the cubic foot, but this drops to about 5 million particles on a clear morning after the air has been "washed" by a rain. Who did the counting? An unnamed Job on the payroll of the Weather Bureau.

The dust consists of fragments of rubber tires, lime, germs, earth, shoe leather, etc. When you consider city life from all sides, the wonder is that we're alive at all, not that there's so much illness.

TABOO

In various states the campaign continues, to prevent teaching the scientific doctrine of evolution in the schools, on the ground that evolution is contrary to the Bible.

On the other hand, in 10 states the Bible is not permitted to be read in the public schools, says William R. Hood, specialist in school legislation.

Six states require a daily Bible reading in school. Six other states permit it. In 19 states and the District of Columbia, the law is silent on the subject. In other states, the law is silent but courts have ruled in favor of the Bible.

HERO

"Can't we have a stage hero who remains poor?" demands Paul M. Pearson, president of the Internationai Lyceum and Chautauqua Association. "Can't we have a hero who toils terribly hard rather than the hero who wins easily and always makes money?"

No, Mr. Pearson, we cannot. There are too many such "heroes" in every-day life. When we go to the theater we want to see life as we'd like it, not as it is. The man in the ticket office knows it.

NORTHWARD

More negroes in Chicago now than in New Orleans or Baltimore. In 1910 Chicago had only 44,000 negroes. The figure now is estimated as high as 200,000.

Other northern cities have had a similar increase, though not on as large a scale. It is part of a definite racial movement, and it is leaving the South with a difficult labor problem.

HALF

You read a lot about the American farmer's struggle for his fair share of prosperity. Farmers are having pretty much the same difficulty in other countries.

The outcome is hard to predict. But the reaction, when it comes, will be mighty. Half of the world's workers are engaged in agriculture, our government finds on checking up. In America, only 29 per cent.

Farming still is the basic industry, as important as all other industries combined. Ask the starving man.

"WE WANT JOHNSON"

Orange, Nov. 28, 1923.

Editor Register: Your editorial on Johnson's presidential candidacy is much appreciated. We are glad that you are on the right side and loyal to our own.

You may wish to publish a portion of this article (if not all) from the Evening Star, Washington, received tday:

Very sincerely yours,
J. E. PARKER

"Hiram Johnson's formal entry into the republican presidential race monopolizes interest, liberally seasoned with anxiety, in both republican and democratic camps. Nowhere is the Johnson candidacy regarded with contempt. It is an open secret that President Coolidge's friends feared the rivalry of Johnson more than that of Lowden, Pinchot, Watson and all the rest combined. It's the Californian's fiery talent on the stump that is his imcomparably strongest asset. As a rabble-rouser, there has been no campaigner in our time to excel him, with the possible exception of Bryan. Democratic leaders share republican respect for Johnson's capacity as a vote-getter. Six months ago they could be heard saying that they would immensely prefer to fight Harding for re-election in 1924 than oppose Johnson. Many of them feel that way about the relative strength of Coolidge and Johnson."

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

by Olive Roberts Barton

NO. 13—A TATTLER

This was the riddle that the Riddle Lady asked next day:

"I talk and talk and also hear,
For I've a mouth and one good ear.
I am a gossip of the worst,
Whate'er takes place, I hear it first.

"I have more knowledge than the books,
That tell of ships and kings and cooks,
I hear more stories, new and old,
Than story-books would ever hold.

"I know more secrets than the Sphynx,
For all he grins and wisely winks.
I know more news than all the press,
That prints the papers—can you guess?

"But I've a habit I can't break,
I know it's bad—there's no mistake—
Whate'er I hear, with throaty rattle,
As quick as scat, I go and tattle!

"There have been times I've turned discreet,
Deciding that I'd not repeat,
The things I'd heard of this and that,
As—who wore someone else's hat!

"But when I do, I get a shaking,
Until I'm sure my bones are breaking.
And someone shouts out in my ear,
'Hello, hello, now can you hear?'

"So what's the use of being good?
I can't do anything I should,
So don't blame me, if you should own,
A rattle-tattle ——."

Nick thought he knew, and Nancy thought she knew, but both of them waited to hear what the Riddle Land people would have to say.

"Well, well, well!" declared the Old-Shoe Woman. That's a hard one. It isn't the wind is it? Lady Wind is n awful gossip. I always say to my children, 'Listen now, my little dears, if a whisper reaches itching ears—'"

"Oh, do have done and give the rest of us a chance!" admonished Old Mother Hubbard. Then she turned to the Riddle Lady. "I was just passing by on my way to the butcher's to get my dog a bone when I heard what you said. I'm plumb worn out traipsing around for that dog! I've been to the tailors and the cobblers and the hatters this morning and I'll soon have no soles on my shoes."

The Riddle Lady smiled in sympathy. "If you had one of the things the riddle is about, you could stay at home and do your buying," she said. "But you folk from Mother Goose Land are all too old-fashioned for new inventions. Tell them what it is, Nancy," for she could tell by the little girl's eyes that she knew.

"A telephone!" she said quickly.
